Chairman's Statement

Dear Shareholders,

It gives me great pleasure to extend a warm welcome to all of you at this twentieth Annual General Meeting.

India stands in the midst of an epochal transformation. Today, we are the fourth largest economy in the world in terms of purchasing power parity, the third largest in Asia, and the second largest amongst the emerging nations. Growing at a clip of over 9% annually, India is one of the few markets that has enormous potential for growth and earnings in practically all sectors. There is no let up from the Government on the reform process which has spurred the economy. These developments at the macro level will have a positive impact on your Company.

Your Company delivered robust growth during 2006-2007, through revenue expansion across diverse segments of our clients. A strong focus on improving the operating efficiencies and resource utilization, efficient management of cost structure also showed significant results. Our business visibility remained strong and we remained confident in our ability to expand existing relationship, moving to development of new products in all applications - vertically and geographically and adding new cliental, domestic and international.

We are confident and we are sure, you will share our confidence that we can continue to drive growth and achieve our strategic and corporate objectives in 2007-2008 and beyond. Thus our leadership in mineral industry will continue in the years to come. We may add for your information that, all manufacturing divisions other than Bhuj have utilized their optimum capacity and steps are being taken to improve optimization of capacity at Bhuj.

As a direct consequence, your Company's continuing operations grow strongly by over 25% and this estimation is likely to be reflected in the year 2007-2008 and our turnover would be in the vicinity of Rs. 123 Crores.

Your Company's Research & Development Center has started making significant contribution to business development. In the course of last several years, your Company has developed and introduced a number of high end products through the R&D effort. R&D Center also supports your Company's foray into new products. 20 Microns continues to invest in R & D activities towards development of new products and applications for the improvement in operating efficiencies and reduction in manufacturing cost. Over the last few years the Company has made substantial investment in technology, processes and systems, innovation and brand building towards acquiring competitiveness in terms of cost and quality in each of its operations. Your Company gives more emphasis to quality improvement measures and quality management systems at all its locations. During the year 2006-2007, the Company has spent a substantial amount of Rs. 64 Lacs in R&D activities and this trend of investment would continue in future.

20 Microns is managed by the Board of Directors with three executive and five non-executive Directors assisted by the talented & experienced Executives. I am happy to report that Mr. Rajesh C. Parikh, who was elevated to the position of Joint Managing Director effective 31st March, 2006, did extremely well during the whole of the year. He was not only helping me in the discharge of my duties as a Managing Director but he was looking after all technical matters, marketing operations - domestic & international and administration as was done by him hitherto.

The Company has constituted statutory committees like Audit Committee, Nomination and Compensation Committee and Remuneration Committee and members thereof are drawn from Venture Capital, Finance, Accountancy and Legal fields. The Company has benefited from well thought out suggestions from the Chairman and members of the Audit Committee of Directors by their progressive outlook and innovative ideas.

Your Company continues to maintain its management team to work efficiently, effectively and economically and to strengthen the decision making process. The Management team consists of CEOs, Vice- presidents, General Managers, so on and so forth.

The Company has talented, experienced, committed and dedicated staff and the employee strength at the close of the year 2006-2007 stood at 559. Your Company's ability to deliver value also depends on its ability to attract, train, motivate, empower and retain the best professional talents. These abilities have to be delivered across Company's rapidly expanding operations. There is a significant competition from emerging sectors, which possesses inherent risks associated with the ability to hire and retain skilled and experienced professionals. Your Company continuously benchmarks HR policies and practices with the best in the industry and carries out necessary improvements to attract and retain best talent and build intellectual capital. Keeping all these in view, your Company has formulated ESOS for the benefit and well being of its work force.

In the year 2006-07, we recorded about 30% growth. While this is not a small achievement by any standards, the industry average touched 13% growth. The challenge for us going forward is to make sure we can drive growth further and meet top tier benchmarks, while sustaining and expanding our recent gains in delivery efficiency and stronger financial management. We must integrate the elements that enable our key competitors to grow much faster.

I will be failing in my duty if I do not place on record my grateful thanks to the Venture Fund for their positive and growth oriented approach in the overall development and interest of the Company and the patience and forbearance they have shown for the return on the investments in the Company. In the foreseeable future we will be meeting with their expectations. I am also thankful to all other shareholders and lenders of term loans and working capital funds for the support and confidence they have reposed in us.

In the end, I would like to assure that we would work with renewed vigor & we shall try to be worthy of the trust & confidence reposed by all of you in us.

Chandresh S. Parikh

■ From the Joint Managing Director's Desk

Over the past few years, we have shared with you a new strategic context for 20 Microns Limited. It has been embraced by our employees, who have begun to transform that context into results. Embodied in that strategy is a focus on balanced financial results and shareholder value.

In spite of significant economic challenges, I am pleased to report that, in 2006-07, we were able to deliver on those commitments while creating the financial and strategic base to position the company for the future.

In 2006-07, we:

- Delivered earnings growth
- Generated more than Rs 2000 lacs in sales from new technologies;
- Delivered a EPS of 2.87 rupees.

From an operations perspective, Strong technological positions coupled with our intense focus on productivity improvements supported earnings growth in most of our markets.

Here are just a few highlights of our performance.

- Enhanced our new additives portfolio and increased volumes significantly as extrusion processors,
- Helped them enrich throughputs and deal with dispersion issues in their processes.

In Appearance and Performance Technologies, we:

- Grew sales of kaolin-based technologies for non-paper applications as we continued to enrich our business mix; and
- Enhanced our speciality chemicals portfolio to strengthen our position in coating's market.

Our accomplishments in 2006-07 underscore two of 20 Microns' greatest strengths our technology leadership and our Research and development position.

Against the backdrop of the most difficult economic conditions in years, we have been transforming our enterprise. We have been building a stronger, more vibrant company based on a different idea of what 20 Microns' truly is and, even more important, all it can be.

Three years back we started a strategic context like a mosaic. That characterization highlights the fact that these elements do not stand alone. They interconnect like the pieces of a mosaic to create the picture that is the 20 Microns' of today.

The 20 Microns' mosaic starts with recognizing that we are a surface and mineral science company.

Strategically, we look at expanding our served market base as well as leveraging technology and the commonality of our competencies and assets against broad market needs.

The bridge between technology and the marketplace is ingenuity. Every time a new person joins our organization, a new set of eyes enhances our combined ingenuity. It's like adding a new colour to an artist's palette.

Likewise, every new technology we develop can enrich the entire palette of products and markets. Ingenuity also fuels our passion for productivity. We view productivity as a tool for growth. Productivity is the speed and frequency with which we develop and commercialize new technical advances as well as the minimization of the cost of these initiatives. It is how we generate the margins that fund growth, and it is what keeps our operations viable in a global competitive marketplace.

The final element of the 20 Microns' mosaic enables us to maximize the value we create from the other elements managing the company as a seamlessly integrated, decentralized enterprise rather than as a federation of businesses.

Three years after its introduction, commitment to our strategic context has never been stronger. It continues to unlock value long embedded in 20 Microns' but never realized. It is enabling our employees to see opportunities that would have otherwise remained invisible. It is enabling us to deliver greater value to our customers, and that is ultimately how we deliver wealth to our shareholders.

Rajesh C. Parikh
