MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION & ANALYSIS

PVC Pipes are fast becoming the preferred mode of carrying water from the location of its source to the location of its use. Inversely, PVC Pipes are also useful for carrying the used water and sanitary waste towards the location of its disposal. Safety, reliability and strength – the important attributes of PVC Pipes are gradually yet definitely finding favour with the users as well as government and quasi-government authorities responsible for water and waste water management.

As per the statistics, only about 43% of the land under cultivation in India has access to irrigation. This means that more than half of India's agriculture still depends on the monsoon. Successive governments have allocated large funds to increase the reach of irrigation.

An increase in disposable income in rural India and a continued focus by the Government to increase irrigation coverage in the country augurs well for the demand of your Company's products. Your Company has experienced that the demand for PVC pipes is acyclical in nature. A good monsoon implies better purchasing power for the farmer, thereby resulting in a high demand for pipes. Similarly, a poor monsoon requires the farmer to source water from farther distances, thereby also increasing the demand for pipes.

Furthermore, the area under irrigation in India is abysmally low and the potential for irrigation is so large that your Company does not expect any structural drop in demand in the foreseeable future. Your Company has therefore seen a CAGR of more than 15% over the last ten years, and expects this trend to continue in the years to come.

The company has instituted adequate internal control procedure commensurate with the nature of its business and the size of its operations. Internal Audit is conducted at regular intervals and covers the key areas of operations. All significant audit observations and follow-up actions thereon are reported to the Audit Committee.

Your company's Industrial relations continued to be harmonious during the year under review. The focus is on maintaining employee motivation at a high level with stress on leadership development.

Estimates and expectations stated in this Management Discussion and Analysis may be "forward-looking statement" within the meaning of applicable securities laws and regulations. Actual results could differ materially from those expected or implied. Important factors that could make a difference to your Company's operations include economic conditions affecting demand/supply and price conditions in the domestic and international markets, changes in the Government regulations, tax laws, other statutes and other incidental factors.
