MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS1. Industry Structure – Development, Performance Review & Outlook

The pharmaceutical industry has witnessed flurry of activities throughout the financial year with Indian companies going for major acquisitions in the overseas markets. This has proved beyond doubt the capabilities of Indian pharmaceutical industry to manage global businesses. These acquisitions have been driven by two major objectives: one being getting the foothold in the overseas markets and second being growth for the home business in the form of shifting the cost efficient services to India.

With the increasing cost of R&D and lower success rates in terms of new products coming out of such R&D, the global pharmaceutical companies have started looking for outsourcing the R&D activity to the locations like India. Even in manufacturing, India boast largest number of US FDA approved pharmaceutical manufacturing facilities after US.

India has emerged as the preferred destination for CRAMS, the popular synonym used for "Contract Research And Manufacturing Services".

The Indian pharmaceutical market scenario has also seen a major shift in the form of speciality focus being brought in various therapeutic segments. The growth is evident in the segments of Cardiology, Diabetology, Oncology, Ophthalmology, Dermatology etc. and particularly the product range with super specialization. The innovation both in product and placement has played a key role in the growth of domestic market.

Your company continued its impressive growth during the year by adopting a mix of winning strategies in the global markets. Focusing on the fast growing speciality segments of Cardiology, Ophthalmology and Dermatology, it created a niche with innovative product launches. After the successful experience of speciality focus, your company has recently launched two super speciality divisions to strengthen its presence in the market. The aggressive brand focus in the international market has enabled the company to reduce dependence on low margin tenders. Your company is now preparing itself for offering CRAMS services to the overseas corporations and taking decisive steps in this direction.

2. Opportunities, Threats, Risks and Concerns

India has proved its capabilities both in research and manufacturing of pharmaceutical products. Worldwide, Indian quality is well respected and well accepted. This, with cost advantage offered by India as compared to the developed markets, puts Indian companies in a unique advantage. As per the recent reports, India is fast emerging as an outsourcing hub and is expected to take a lead position globally. Many large multinationals have declared their plans to enhance their outsourcing from India. This offers a very big opportunity for the Indian pharmaceutical companies like yours. Your company's rich and long experience of more than 3 decades both in research and manufacturing puts it in the most enviable position. Your company has already taken steps to enter this growing segment with opening an office in USA to commence its tie-ups for CRAMS activities. Plans are also afoot to set-up new facilities exclusively dedicated for these activities.

The major threat being perceived today in the global markets for pharmaceutical industry is the low success rate, increasing costs and price pressures. Further the risk of delays in product filing, getting registrations or launch also makes it vulnerable to loss of opportunities. Your company has adopted a conservative policy by going for tie-ups before making any investment on the activity. This will ensure better success at the initial stage and allow it to gain strength in the long term.

All the properties and insurable interest of the Company including building, plant and machinery, stock etc are adequately insured.

3. Internal Control Systems

Your company maintains a system of internal control including suitable monitoring procedures. The internal audit department and outside firms of internal auditors for different locations regularly conduct a review to assess the financial and operating controls in the company. Any significant issue reported in the internal audit report is brought to the attention of the Audit Committee of the Board. The statutory auditors and the head of internal audit are invited to attend the audit committee meetings.

4. Human Resource Development

In line with your company's philosophy of investing in the development of its most precious asset of human capital, it has initiated number of programs during the year. In addition to The "Man of the year" and "Team of the year" awards being given for last many years, the company has added a Chairman's trophy for "The Star Performer of the year" to motivate and retain the talent. Number of training programs have been arranged throughout the year to enhance the skills of the people at all the levels. Your company's strength has gone up to a strong team of 1193 as on 31st March, 2006.

5. Cautionary Note

Certain statements in the reports of the Board of Directors and Management's discussion and analysis may be forward looking statements within the meaning of applicable securities laws and regulations. Actual results could differ materially from those expressed or implied since company's operations are influenced by many external and internal factors beyond the control of the company.

The company assumes no responsibility to publicly amend, modify or revise any of these statements on the basis of any subsequent developments, information or events.

OPERATIONS

It was another excellent year of performance for fourth consecutive year with growth on all parameters. The benefits of efforts being taken in the past few years have started yielding results with 19% growth in sales dominated by brand business worldwide. This growth is particularly important in terms of quality of business as the company reduced its dependence on low margin tender business and established its brands in the fast growing areas of Cardiology, Ophthalmology and Dermatology. This is evidently reflected in the growth of profitability with profit before tax taking 81% jump over the previous year. Profit after tax has also shown a very good growth of 39% over the previous year.

RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT

The strong and focused R & D activities in the area of new formulations development has been the major source to remain ahead in product launches and product registrations in different parts of the world. It is only with the support of R&D that your company could launch two super speciality divisions "Illuma" and "Anasca" in Ophthalmology and Dermatology during the year. Most of the products launched in these new divisions as well as the existing divisions are first of its kind in the market. The 60 people strong team of R&D is gearing up to take new challenges for the continued growth of the company.

OVERSEAS VENTURES

During the year, your company established a subsidiary in USA with an objective of exploring the largest pharmaceutical market of the world. Your company is looking for tie-ups for contract research and manufacturing, acquisitions and in-licensing opportunities from the US market. Your company's overseas venture in Mauritius continues to perform well and is expected to do better in the coming years. The performance of Turkmenistan venture though was reasonably good during the last calendar year, remains an area of concern due to lack of convertibility. Your directors are taking effective steps to maintain the growth.

SUBSIDIARY COMPANIES

Report and accounts of subsidiary Companies alongwith statement pursuant to section 212 of the Companies Act 1956 are annexed.
