NUCLEUS SECURITIES LIMITED

The income from the Money Changing division has been declined marginally due to increased competition in the industry coupled with delayed payments by clients as well as defaults. Income from the Western Union money transfer service is improving. Similarly income from VAT Reclaim Service has marginally improved.

The performance of Portfolio, Research and Information Service Division was satisfactory. The Company earned Rs. 4.68 lacs in foreign exchange in this division during the year. The Portfolio service continued to show better performance.

The Corporate Finance activities also performed satisfactorily, despite of the intense competition in this activity. The Merchant Banking services continued to languish due to the deep recessionary trend in the primary market. The SEBI has refused to renew registration of your Company since it also carries out activities governed by RBI, namely Money Changing.

The representations of your Company to SEBI that, the withdrawal application of the Company seeking registration as an NBFC is under consideration of the RBI, have not been considered. However, SEBI has renewed registration of your Company as Portfolio Manager.

The Company has applied to Reserve Bank of India (RBI) for withdrawal of application seeking registration as an NBFC in view of the change in income and asset composition of the Company in recent years as it is no longer eligible for registration as an NBFC. RBI stipulated that the Company should not have any public deposits outstanding before considering the withdrawal application. Hence, permission was sought from RBI to prepay the deposits to depositors willing to accept the same. Subsequently, RBI has granted permission to the Company to prepay its Fixed Deposits on contracted rate of interest and Company has already prepaid Deposits to all depositors willing to receive money prematurely amounting to Rs. 13.77 lacs till 15.5.99. Meanwhile the Company applied to RBI to allow the Company to open an ESCROW account and transfer balance outstanding deposits not withdrawn prematurely by depositors, to the said account and become a Service Company. The said permission is received and the Company shall open the ESCROW account in immediate future.

The Company has deemed it necessary to provide for debts remaining outstanding beyond a reasonable period. Many of these may be ultimately realised fully or partly as and when judicial process is complete. However, in view of the long procedures in civil and criminal redressal mechanism existing in our judicial process, it is deemed appropriate to provide for the same.

The Company has also sold some of the assets which were non-performing/or yielding low returns to improve cash flows and reduce interest expense.

4. SUBSIDIARY :

The Company sold certain shares of M/s. Nucleus Shares Custodian Service Ltd. (NSCSL) and its present holding is below 51% and therefore the accounts of NSCSL are not attached herewith.

5. FUTURE OUTLOOK :

The slowdown in economy, political, legal, administrative and judicial reforms will continue, leaving all industries facing severe competition with no options but to cut costs severely.

The current instability at political level and carry-forward effect of recessionary trends witnessed in last two years are likely to continue with marginal improvements. In money changing as well as fee based services, the consolidation phase is likely to further intensify, thereby leaving margins under pressure.

Overall outlook is cautiously stable.
