II. TECHNOLOGY ABSORPTION

Efforts made in technology absorption as per Form B hereunder:

FORM B

A. Research and Development (R & D)

1. Specific Areas:

- (a) As a Company which strives for innovation and providing innovative tailor made solutions for the farmers pest problems the development wing of Bayer CropScience evaluated 39 innovative molecules in various agricultural and horticultural crops and pest segments and could identify a number of compounds which could meet the demands of the changing and dynamic pest scenario especially after introduction of Genetically Modified based Bt-Cotton in the country.

In line with the changing trends towards contract farming and corporate retailing the Company has taken initiatives in crops like cotton, fresh fruits and vegetables to provide guidance and inputs not only on plant protection but also efficient crop management that could lead to enhancement of productivity, quality and provide an opportunity to tap the huge export potential in the globally driven economy.

- (b) Upholding the Bayer tradition, in 2006 too, the Company could secure registrations for a few Research & Development based new molecules in Crop Protection. These technologically advanced products, with innovative, farmer friendly and safe packaging systems, are Admire 70 WG – a broad spectrum insecticide for the control of a range of dreaded sucking pests in Rice and Cotton and Monceren 250 SC – a specialized fungicide to combat one of the most challenging sheath blight disease in Rice.

The year, however, was difficult from product registration point of view for various reasons. Nevertheless, the Company was able to submit an application for registration of yet another new strategically advantageous insecticide Ethiprole 10 SC, to combat the futuristic menace of resistant Brown Plant Hopper insect on Rice.
