Management Discussion And Analysis

Wind Power Development - International Scenario

Europe crisis

European economy is expected to continue with another year of dismal economic performance, while the United States and emerging markets may have to struggle to keep themselves afloat. Spain, having the fourth largest windpower installations, is feared to have gone into a painful recession. Moreover, this trend has forced other countries to tread cautiously and this has further added woes to the industrial climate.

A strong growth in China in the recent years has helped it to add wind power capacities on a large scale. The European slowdown has affected its global growth and may shrink its margins due to severe competition.

Also, fall in global oil demand and prices may not help the renewable energy sector. The future of Kyoto Protocol post 2012 is expected to be discussed at length during the Durban talks on Climate Change in December 2011. This is another opportunity to bank on for the renewable sector.

Wind Power Development - Domestic Scenario

During the year, the government has implemented the REC mechanism (Renewable Energy Certificates) in its efforts to promote the various kinds of renewable energy. It has also received a good response from the RE generators and obligatories of the mechanism and can be seen from the steady rise in traded volumes.

Performance of Company's Windmill Projects

Due to better wind conditions, the windmill projects of your company have shown an increase in the generation during the year. The trend is similar to other such projects in the state. The generation of wind power from your Company's projects increased by 15% as compared to the previous year.

The projects of your company have been successfully registered under the REC mechanism. The RECs issued would be traded on power exchanges and would be eligible for additional revenue. In respect of issues regarding grant of open access for windmill projects wheeling energy to third parties, certain clarifications are being sought from the regulatory authority. Although the power generation and revenue has not been affected due to this, the realization of revenues have been delayed.

The windmill generators of your Company are undergoing thorough overhaul in phases to ensure that the life of the windmills is enhanced and are able to perform better.

Actual results might differ substantially or materially from those expressed or implied. Important developments that could affect the Company's operations include a downtrend in the industry-global or domestic or both, significant changes in political and economic environment in India, tax laws, litigations, labour relations and interest costs.
