BPCL . . . the hallmark of excellence !

Dear Shareowners,

I am extremely happy to communicate to you once again and to inform you that your Company has made significant progress on all fronts in the last year. This is reflected in the recently released Fortune Global 500 rankings for the year 2011-12, in which BPCL's ranking at 225 is a substantial improvement over the previous year's rank of 272. BPCL has also cemented its status as one of India's most respected corporate houses, when it was named among India's 50 Most Admired Companies in a recent list published in Fortune India Magazine. Leading companies were surveyed across parameters including corporate governance, innovativeness and talent management. These assessments by independent agencies and the positive financial results have been a vindication of the Company's concerted efforts to enhance stakeholder value. BPCL's excellent performance and consistent growth can be attributed to a strong and focused vision co-created by the employees across the Company, clarity in communication at all levels of the organisation and a meticulous execution plan.

Our foray into the upstream sector has shown great promise and our Exploration & Production arm, Bharat PetroResources Limited had last year reported some very important finds of Oil & Gas in Mozambique, Brazil and Indonesia. The gas finds in Mozambique in particular are truly world class and the consortium is carefully considering options for harnessing its entire potential. Although monetization is still sometime away and would involve large investments, the upstream initiative is looking set to deliver significant value to the stakeholders in the days ahead.

The Company is committed to sustain growth in the downstream sector and towards this end, the Board has recently approved the refinery expansion project at Kochi involving a capital outlay of around ₹ 14,225 crores. The Government of Kerala is actively supporting the project by extending fiscal incentives for the same. The refining capacity at Kochi will increase to 15.5 MMTPA on completion of this project, thereby ensuring that BPCL will be well placed to meet the growing demand for petroleum products in the country. The project will result in the refining facilities being modernised which will enable the refinery to produce Auto fuels conforming to Euro IV / V specifications and also lead to upgradation of the residue streams to produce distillates and petcoke. BPCL is also planning to enter the petrochemicals segment using the raw material to be produced at the refinery on the commissioning of the expansion project.

I am glad to inform you that we have recently signed an MOU with L G Chem, Korea, one of the world's leading players in the petrochemicals business. We are also looking at opportunities to undertake low cost expansion of the Bina Refinery which can take the refining capacity from the existing 6 MMTPA to 9 MMTPA. These projects, when completed, will ultimately transform the organisation and take it to the next level of growth.

Marketing continues to be the core area of our operations and catering to customer aspirations continues to be central to our existence. Taking this forward, BPCL has judiciously increased its retail presence and would continue to commission new retail outlets in markets which show strong growth potential including highways and rural areas. A bouquet of offerings to meet the customer needs including total automation of outlets and world class service to motorists are being made available to enhance customer loyalty.

To consolidate its presence in the LPG business, BPCL has recently commissioned a state-of-the-art Cryogenic LPG Import Terminal at Uran near Mumbai. Given that imports contribute significantly in meeting the requirements of bulk LPG, the terminal will go a long way in handling the growing volumes of LPG imports. Large investments are being planned in the Gas sector as we look at scaling up the business and having better access to the gas distribution infrastructure. The growth in the Indian industrial sector is bolstered by timely supplies from our portfolio of Industrial & Commercial fuels. International bunkering has been initiated through our Joint Venture Company, Matrix Bharat Pte Limited based in Singapore. Our MAK lubricants have regularly innovated to introduce products conforming to global standards and have established a growing presence in Sri Lanka, Nepal, Africa and Bangladesh. The Aviation sector has seen some volatile developments in recent times. However, BPCL has taken proactive steps to consolidate the business and seek fresh avenues for growth and development. Towards this end, BPCL has recently signed an MOU with Kannur International Airport Limited to have an equity stake in the proposed new airport at Kannur in Kerala. Project CUBE (Customer Understanding for Business Excellence) was undertaken with a view to get to know our customers better and ensure that we meet their requirements. Initial results have been encouraging and efforts are currently on to strengthen the relationship with customers across all the businesses.

With demand for petroleum products increasing considerably, there is a need to set up additional storage and distribution facilities in markets having strong growth potential. An integrated marketing infrastructure plan has been finalised to set up Installations, Depots, Bottling Plants, Aviation Stations and a lube blending plant. In addition, pipelines to transport products in a cost effective manner are being planned in a few locations.

Apart from the fund requirements, we remain conscious of the fact that all the ambitious plans of the Company can be achieved only if we have the right people in the right job. BPCL is therefore, working towards developing a strong talent base and a robust succession plan. This can ensure that people with the requisite skills and expertise are available to take the organisation to the next level of growth. A lot of emphasis is being placed on project management and execution skills in view of the quantum of investments being planned. We are fortunate to have a dedicated team who are passionate about their work and spare no effort in striving for excellence in all their endeavours.

Even as BPCL continues to move forward on the growth path, we remain committed to meeting our social obligations as a caring Company. Our thrust on water conservation and primary education continues and we would like to make a significant contribution in these areas. The community at large is a major stakeholder for BPCL and it is our desire to ensure that we make a difference through our efforts and investments.

As I conclude, I would like to emphasise my abiding faith in the growth potential of India. There is no doubt that the current economic situation is tough; however, the country's strengths far outweigh the weaknesses and therefore, the days ahead should see strong growth in all areas. BPCL is gearing itself to meet the growing demand for energy in the years ahead. At the same time, we would also like to equip ourselves to meet the likely competitive pressures. The future looks very promising and I remain confident that we will be in a position to deliver substantial returns on your investment in the Company. Towards this, we have recently declared a generous bonus issue of equity shares in the ratio of one new share for every share held.

I, along with my fellow Directors, look forward to your continuing support as we embark on a journey which promises to be exciting and rewarding to every stakeholder.

Warm regards
