PARADIGM CHANGED

ANNUAL REPORT 2013

Paradigm Changed: 2013

ORGANIZATIONAL STRUCTURE

A new SBU structure has been created to enable aspirational growth that achieves Biocon's US$ 1 billion goal.

NOVEL MOLECULES

ALZUMAb™ (Itolizumab), the world's first novel anti-CD6 antibody for psoriasis developed by Biocon, received regulatory approvals for launch in India.

RESEARCH SERVICES

This business crossed a major milestone of US$ 100 million in revenue, making it the second largest CRO in Asia.

BIOSIMILARS

Biocon–Mylan partnership for co-development of three insulin analogs, has strengthened Biocon's commitment to offer affordable therapy to diabetic patients worldwide.

With the approval of Itolizumab, a novel molecule for the treatment of Psoriasis, Biocon has changed the healthcare paradigm in India. An outcome of transformative innovation, this novel biologic drug has the imminent potential to alter the course of autoimmune diseases and the lives of patients all over the world.

PARADIGM

Biocon has always aspired to make a difference but perhaps most significantly, we aim to change the paradigm. We target those diseases that are chronic, where medical needs are yet largely unmet. We leverage India's value advantage and scientific excellence to continuously accelerate new and differentiated therapies to market. We endeavor to transform innovation while keeping it affordable and accessible.

In the life-threatening segment of anti-cancer therapies, we have delivered to the Indian patient BIOMAb EGFR®, a proprietary anti-cancer drug. In the chronic diabetology segment, our Oral Insulin is steadily advancing through the clinic. And now, for autoimmune diseases, we present the world's first novel anti-CD6 monoclonal antibody (MAb), Itolizumab.

The prevalence of autoimmune maladies has increased to levels never before seen in human history. Yet, very few know the vital basics about autoimmune diseases. That all of them have in common, the malfunction of the body's immune system, which turns on itself, targeting and destroying its own healthy cells, tissues and organs. At present, the challenge before the global healthcare community is to find therapies to reverse the 'friendly fire' rather than alleviate the symptoms. Biocon has transformed this breakdown of the body's immunity into a breakthrough in medical innovation.
