CURRENT MARKET SCENARIO

The Financial Year 2013-14 remained extremely challenging for the entire Financial/Capital markets' Intermediaries. Coming as it did, after already two bad years in a row this one took a rather heavier toll on the market players. Despite the optic view that things have been improving markedly from the second half of the year, the actual percolation of benefits have not reached the ground levels yet & have certainly not helped improve the struggling Balance Sheets of the players in our category. The process of recovery has been regularly interrupted by several factors from both External sources as well our own Domestic issues. Thus, on a net basis the overall market condition remains quite challenging at this point.

The recovery process in the second half is driven largely by the developments on the Political front and now with the strong emergence of what is seen as a stable, pro-Reforms Government things are expected to improve significantly. It is also known fact that over the last three Financial years our Economy has slumped from high growth zones of >8% GDP to the current levels of barely 4.5% besides high levels of Inflation wherein the CPI Inflation hit levels of up to 12% & the Food prices Inflation hit unheard levels of 18-20%.

By the middle of the FY'2013-14, the Economy had slipped into a near crisis situation with the Current Account Deficit(CAD) hitting almost unmanageable levels @ >70 Billions. The CAD had hit such alarming proportions that at one stage in August it was reported at a whopping 6.7% to the GDP. As a result Rupee slumped to hit levels of nearly Rs.69 to a $ even as fears of an imminent International Rating Agencies' downgrade loomed large. However, some drastic steps to curb Imports, especially of commodities like Gold helped to improve the situation. All these events with a perceptible lack of policy inactivity had left an extremely uneasy feeling amongst large Investors. However, now that the new Government will be seen acting quickly, the hopes of a turn-around in economy can be hoped earnestly.

Despite the high hopes of markets making a smart recovery & likely to progress well in a new regime, the hopes for Market intermediaries do not look quite so optimistic, at least for the near future. After reeling under heavy pressure situation for over three years now, the Broking Industry remains badly battered. The most adverse factor that remains firmly in tact is the enormous stress levels on margins with the brokerages shrinking to abysmal, almost unviable levels. This situation remains grim & continues to threaten the players endlessly. On the positive side, with Stock valuations regaining some of the older virtues, the hopes that HNI & Corporate Clients' business will see a traction is the only saving grace.

If stock indices are a true reflection of the sentiments if not the actual status of the Economic affairs, the fact that both the leading Indices the NIFTY & the SENSEX hitting new All-time Highs, with the SENSEX topping the 23K mark & the NIFTY hitting levels of 6870+ do indicate that the market sentiments' have certainly improved in the recent times. With the formation of a new look Government the hopes are indeed high that the Reforms agenda will be placed on a fast-track once again & the high growth days of 7-8% will be re-visited in the near future.
