(a) Industry Structure and Developments:

Textile is the largest industrial sector in India. It is the largest employer in the manufacturing sector in India. Exports of textile products covered approx. 25% of India's total exports. The textile industry has a wide scope to introduce their products in North-East region and to enter into the global market of developed countries.

During the year ended 31st March 2005, the company has not carried out any manufacturing activities relating to textile. The company is optimistic to start manufacturing activities in due course of time.

(b) Opportunities & threats:

In the international market, there is an opportunity to expand our market share, particularly in the Ready made garments.

On the other hand, there is a clear threat from modern textile manufacturing units in China, East Europe and South America. These competitors have an edge over us in manufacturing costs, better productivity and better infrastructure facilities. The other factor which erodes our market share is the introduction of anti dumping products in the Market.

INVESTMENT AND TRADING DIVISION (SECURITIES)

Investment in Shares & Securities and trading in Shares & securities are the core business of our company. The main thrust for improvement in performance will come from investment in various Shares & securities by which the company can improve their net worth by earning dividend, interest and Sale of investments.

In these type of industries, the following golden rule to be applied i.e "the right decision at the right time."

(b) Opportunities & threats:

The Company has an opportunity to grow in trading market as the main business segment of the Company is trading in equities which constitutes more than 90% of its turnover.

The overall sluggish economic environment, and its possible negative impact on the stock markets is a possible risk to the business volume expansion

(c) Outlook:

The Company is proactively responding to the changing business environment and is confident of sustaining its market share by improving competitive position in the market.
