The big picture of the last five years

Most companies with a successful track record would have said 'Let things be as they are'

---

But the world is getting younger in preferences of products, applications and colour

But design and fashion trends are getting shorter

But competition is increasing; brand launches are accelerating

But the effectiveness of the traditional media is weakening

But digitalisation is helping accelerate consumer data collection and analysis

But everyone seeks to look younger

But more people are spending time on their smartphones than elsewhere

But more people are wearing colours they would never dreamt of getting into earlier

But 60 is the new 40 when it comes to mindsets and preferences

In view of the sweeping changes, the Dollar of today is not content with moderate annual growth.

It has drawn out a larger vision instead.

To be present in every Indian home.
