The total amount on account of dividend outgo (including additional tax on dividend) will be Rs. 163.18 lacs.

3. OPERATIONS REVIEW

During the crushing season 1998-99 your company crushed 64.75 lac quintals of sugar cane and produced 6.22 lac quintals of sugar as against 57.44 lac quintals of sugar cane crushed and 5.89 lac quintals of sugar produced in the previous season.

Erratic and unprecedented rainfall before the commencement of the season dealt an excruciating blow to the fortunes of the sugar industry in the state of Uttar Pradesh. Recovery recorded by most of the sugar mills in Uttar Pradesh plummeted by at least .50 to .80 percentage point. Although excellence achieved in technical parameters to a certain extent mitigated the negative impact of the unseasonal rainfall, the recovery recorded in your Company declined from a high of 10.28% in 1997-98 to a low of 9.61% during the year.

4. FINANCIAL PERFORMANCE

Profit after tax was Rs.720.64 lacs, as against Rs.820.61 lacs during the previous year indicating a decline of 12.18%.

Cash profit also declined marginally from Rs.1,092.46 lacs in 1997-98 to Rs.1,078.13 lacs.

The fall in profit is attributable to a medley of factors viz.

1. Lower recovery – From a high of 10.28% in 1997-98 to a low of 9.61% during the year under review.
2. Lower sales – Lesser release of free-sale sugar resulted in sales dropping by 4.16% as compared to the previous year.
3. Cost inflation and increase in sugar cane price without commensurate increase in the selling price of sugar and other by-products.

DWARIKESH SUGAR INDUSTRIES LIMITED

5. YEAR 2000 (Y2K)

The Company had taken adequate steps to deal with the risks associated with the year 2000 problem. The transition was smooth and no disruptions were reported when the year changed. All the hardware, operating systems, network devices, application software and process control equipment were found to be Y2K compliant and continue to perform satisfactorily.

6. DEPOSITORY SYSTEM

In order to provide efficient services & better facilities to the shareholders of the Company such as protection from fraud or loss in transit, to avoid delay in transit, to provide instant transfer & saving in stamp duty on transfer etc., your company signed an agreement with National Securities Depository Ltd., (NSDL) for converting its equity shares from holding in physical form to electronic form. Consequently as at year-end, 74.98% of equity shares of the company have been dematerialised. The Company has also signed an agreement with Central Depository Securities Ltd. (CDSL) to provide an inter se connectivity with NSDL.

7. SUGAR – NATIONAL & INTERNATIONAL PERSPECTIVE

During the crushing season the sugar output in the country increased to 15.4 million tons. Although sugar production and sugar consumption were balanced, the policy of the Government to allow unabated import of sugar has dealt coup-de-grace to the aspirations of the sugar industry as the stock level at the end of the year reached diabolic proportion. The carrying of huge inventory has resulted in mammoth interest burden to the industry and mounting cane arrears to the farmers. The industry had to function in an environment of intense frustration, utmost dejection and extreme disappointment.

During the year there were two half-hearted measures by the Government to increase the import duty with a view to create level playing field for the local industry. However the modicum increase in import duty could not bridge the gap between the cost of imported sugar and the reasonable price which the indigenous sugar manufactures ought to have realised for their produce. The increase in duty therefore did not in any way block the steady stream of imports.

Recently announced measures such as increase in duty to 40% and subjecting the imported sugar to regulatory monthly release mechanism will provide some succour to the ailing domestic sugar industry although the measures have come a bit late in the day.

The existing rate of duty levied on import of sugar (40%) should be viewed against the backdrop of 60% import duty levied by the Government of Pakistan & Sri Lanka, 65% levied by the Government of Brazil, 200% levied by the Government of Bangla Desh and 300% levied by the Governments in the European Union. Besides levying higher rate of import duty the Governments of these countries also substantially subsidise sugar exports thus protecting their domestic industry from predators of other countries.

Sugar production world-wide, during the year 1999-00 is estimated at 135 million tonnes as against a demand of only 130 million tonnes. Unless import duty is raised substantially the imports will continue to flood the Indian markets triggering a further fall in the price of sugar which does not augur well for the hapless domestic sugar industry.

Intriguingly, while the Government does nothing noteworthy to benefit the domestic sugar industry it is unwilling to unentangle labyrinth of controls within which the industry has to function. The presence of Government is ubiquitous except when the beleaguered industry is to be protected from the preying sharks. A comprehensive policy therefore needs to be drawn by virtue of which not only import duty is raised to the maximum of 150% as is permissible under the WTO rules but also export subsidy is granted to enable the domestic industry to compete effectively in the Global market. It is absolutely necessary for the Government to shed its apathy towards the industry by responding to desperate pleas of the Industry and draw a comprehensive policy for the growth and consolidation of sugar industry.

8. 1999-00 OVERALL SCENARIO VIS-A-VIS YOUR COMPANY

The picture ahead is indeed very gloomy, as the gap between supply and demand has assumed yawning proportions. The domestic industry continues to be saddled with the problems of carrying huge inventory, crippling interest burden, mounting cane arrears to the farmers and many more problems generally associated with industrial sickness. Unless the Government formulates industry friendly policies, the year ahead is expected to witness difficult times for the prima donnas of the sugar industry, not to speak of the lesser companies.

The policy of your company to steadfastly pay the dues of farmers in time has resulted in farmers continuing to repose faith in the company and planting more and more sugar cane to be supplied to your company. In the years gone by, phased increase in capacity together with corresponding increase in cane crushed has enabled the company to tide over seemingly insurmountable situation.

The company is committed to continue such time-tested policy and strives to achieve excellence in areas, which are outside the ambit of Government interference.

In the year ahead there should be modest increase in quantity of cane crushed. As per the trends available recovery should be significantly better when compared to the recovery recorded in the year 1998-99. Fortune of your company
