iii. Performance

The Company's performance for the year under review reflected a moderate achievement of budgeted sales although there was a slight drop in export targets for the third quarter of the financial year. However, marginal drop in exports was compensated to a certain extent with increase in export orders during the last quarter ended 31st March, 2007 and the vigorous sales efforts made by the company in increasing domestic supplies. Sales turnover and other income decreased by Rs. 370.72 lakhs as compared to sales turnover of Rs.11617.35 lakhs in the previous year but more or less maintained the top line. This was possible due to the company's strategy in tapping and increasing the share of the domestic customers in the sales turnover for the year.

holding 75.77% of the paid-up share capital of the Company. The acquisition of Saurer by Oerlikon thereby resulted in indirect acquisition of the company's shares by Oerlikon. The open offer was therefore a mandatory offer under Regulations 10 and 12 of SEBI (Substantial Acquisition of Shares and Takeovers) Regulations, 1997.

The specified date for the purposes of the offer was fixed as 6th March, 2007. The schedule for the Open Offer as mentioned in the earlier announcement was subsequently revised. According to the revised schedule the offer opened on 6th July, 2007 and closed on 25th July, 2007. Payment for the acquired shares was made on 6th August, 2007. Management Discussion and Analysis(a) Industry Structure and Developments

The Company's core business operations fall in the broad categories of auto and agriculture ancillaries sector and more specifically in the power transmission sector. Manufacturers of gears for these segments can be classified on the basis of being an original equipment supplier or a replacement market supplier or a combination of both. Currently, leading automobile and tractor manufacturers source their gear requirements through their captive in-house facilities, if any, or from suppliers approved by them. Fairfield Atlas Ltd., is one such approved and preferred supplier to OEM'S in the markets mentioned above.

The Company has been successfully expanding its market and product range in consonance with changing trends in the industry.

The business of the Company ranges from single components, to assembly kits and complete assemblies in keeping with our philosophy of adding value for our customers. The clocking of healthy growth rates for the auto and tractor business is a welcome development for the company's business. An emerging trend in recent times is the foray made by established auto and tractor manufacturers in the field of auto ancillaries including gears.

(b) Opportunities and Threats

The indirect acquisition of the company's parent company and Graziano Trasmissioni by Oerlikon, Switzerland unfolds an opportunity to the company to make its debut in the European market thus presenting an exciting opportunity for additional growth on a global scale. Association with companies having a global presence usually offers an opportunity of increased outsourcing by these companies for their worldwide production due to competitive cost of manufacturing combined with availability of engineering talent existing here.

On the domestic front the current bullish demand prevailing in the vehicle industry is fuelling a demand for components. The Company has taken advantage of this scenario and increased its supply to its existing domestic customers and is on the lookout for adding new customers to its stable. The company is well poised to take advantage and seize both these opportunities.

The setting up of joint ventures or acquisition (both in India and abroad) by leading automobile manufacturers, of companies for manufacture of components pose a potential threat to the domestic business of the company in the long run.

(c) Segment-Wise Performance

The company has determined its business segments as automotive (select applications), agriculture and construction related transmission gears. There are no other primary reportable segments since 100% of the company's business is from transmission-type gears.

(d) Outlook

The company becoming part of the Oerlikon Group consequent upon change in ownership structure of its Principal Fairfield Manufacturing Co., Inc augurs well for the future business prospects of the company mainly in the field of exports. The company along with its Principal Fairfield Manufacturing and Graziano Trasmissioni will be in position to fully exploit the synergies within the Oerlikon Group and also provide an extensive product portfolio that include a broad range of gears and transmissions.

On the domestic front the business outlook of the company seems bright. Going by the trend during the past few months there seems to be a steady increase in demand from some of the existing domestic customers. Moreover the company has also widened its domestic customer base and continues to update its product portfolio so that overall domestic business appears to be tracking with the market.

(e) Internal Control System

The Company has an adequate system of internal control under which all transactions are meticulously recorded, correctly reported and independently verified and vouched. The installation of the ERP System has changed the management information system so that decisions are now taken on actual instead of estimated figures. The Company's cost records are subject to Cost Audit as prescribed by the Government. The Company has also established an extensive programme of in-house internal audits in conformity with Oerlikon standards and procedures as well as by external Chartered Accountant's firm and the latter's Report alongwith Cost Audit Report are discussed at Audit Committee meetings alongwith Statutory Auditors so as to ensure greater transparency and accountability.

(f) Human Resources / Industrial Relations

Industrial relations at the Plant continue to be cordial. Employees are important assets of the company since they create value and products. The training needs for the management and other categories of employees are assessed by the HR Department in conjunction with Top Management. Training programmes are organized inhouse or with external experts as well as at the plants of the Principals and machinery suppliers to deliver functional need based training. Employees are rewarded with opportunities for learning and career advancement. The Company's human resource management systems and processes aim to create a committed workforce, focused customer centric culture so as to be equipped to seize emerging market opportunities. The Company has strength of 426 permanent employees as on 31st March, 2007.

(g) Risks and Concerns

Since a major portion of the Company's revenue is derived from dollar denominated exports, a key concern for the company is the appreciation in the rupee. A rising rupee will have an adverse impact on export realizations in view of the company's exposure to the US and other foreign markets. The Company has made efforts to partially offset this trend and protect its margins by increasing its supplies in the domestic market. Also as a major portion of the Company's income is derived from exports a slackening of export business could impact the revenues of the company.

Another matter of concern is the raw material and other input prices which are northbound. The reduction of import duties may open a window for import of components. The prevailing power instability in the industrial sector of the country resulting sometimes in load shedding is also a matter of concern for the Company.

DISCUSSION ON FINANCIAL PERFORMANCE WITH RESPECT TO OPERATIONAL PERFORMANCE

FINANCIAL INFORMATION

FIXED ASSETS

During the year the company's fixed assets gross block has increased due to the addition of some core machines and furnace in view of the company's focus on widening its domestic customer base and to cater to the future increase in its domestic and export orders. Also the company has paid advances for few machines.

INVENTORIES

The inventory level as on 31st March 2007 was Rs.1563 lakhs as compared to Rs.1322 lakhs in the previous year which was an increase of around 18%. The increase in inventory was mainly due to raw material which constitutes 80% of increased inventory value. Raw material inventory has gone up due to more orders on hand from domestic and export customers and considering hike in the prices of steel.

SUNDRY DEBTORS

Sundry debtors as on 31st March 2007 was Rs. 1323 lakhs being an increase of 91% over previous year debtors which amounted to Rs. 687 lakhs. The increase in the level of debtors was due to more business from domestic customers where credit period is longer than overseas customers. Further, remittances from overseas customers for sales made during the month of March 2007 were delayed and were received after close of financial year.

RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

	F-2007	Rs. in lakhs F-2006
Expenditure
Raw Materials Finished & semi finished products	5286.63	5848.77
Employee costs	1075.46	940.00
Manufacturing and other Expenses	3063.07	2686.80
Interest	269.64	542.91
Depreciation	1415.96	790.74

For the year ended 31st March, 2007 there is a marginal decrease in raw material cost as a percentage of sales due to change in the product mix. Total employee cost has gone up by Rs.135 lakhs due to implementation of new wage agreement and revision in salary structure of staff. Manufacturing and other expenses have increased proportionate to increase in scale of operations. Interest cost has been reduced mainly in view that the parent company has agreed to treat the debt due to them as interest free external commercial loan effective from 1st April, 2006. Depreciation for the year was more or less constant. However, increase in depreciation charge for the year is due to amortization of technical know-how fees to the extent of Rs.621 lakhs.

Certain statements in the Management Discussion and Analysis describing the Company's objectives, projections, estimates, expectations or predictions may be "forward - looking statements" within the meaning of applicable securities laws and regulations. Actual results could differ from those expressed or implied. Important factors that could make a difference to the Company's operations include raw material availability and prices. Cyclical demand and pricing in the Company's principal markets, changes in Government regulations, tax regimes, economic developments within India and the countries in which the Company conducts business and other incidental factors.
