The global and local macroeconomic environment saw significant events in FY17. Events such as BREXIT and President Trump's election created an impact on global economic activity. In India the demonetisation of 1,000 and 500 denomination currency notes, was a key initiative by the Government. Though this caused inconvenience and distress to many people, the general public accepted it stoically and even seemed to support the announcement. While it was claimed that demonetisation had slowed down growth, it needs to be acknowledged that growth had begun to decelerate in the first two quarters of FY17. The Central Statistical Organisation ("CSO") has put the advance estimate for real Gross Value Added growth in FY17 at 6.7%. This is lower than 7.8% achieved in FY16. The trajectory of headline CPI inflation remained southbound for most part of FY17. In April 2016, headline CPI was at 5.5% and it moderated to 3.7% in February 2017. Led by a surge in the low cost current and savings accounts with the banking sector on account of demonetization, monetary policy transmission was stronger in the second half of FY17.

Banks dropped their term deposit rates, thereby creating space for a reduction in the marginal cost of funds based lending rates ("MCLR"). The large borrowers registered significant deterioration in their asset quality.

Government of India and RBI have taken certain steps to reduce and resolve the stress levels in the banking system.

In the last few years, India has taken several steps to ensure long term economic growth. Long term economic progress is possible only with a strong policy framework and we have seen numerous positive steps underway to build the same. Recent policy amendments including the implementation of GST, implementation of the bankruptcy code and the banking sector reforms are being seen as big drivers of the economy, while the demonetization drive was a bold political move. Also, India being a young country, with over 600 million people under the age of 35 years, provides us with a great demographic advantage. This huge population, powered with digital connectivity and technological innovation is proving to be a formidable force in driving the nation forward.

To conclude, on behalf of the FIRC, I wish to put on record our sincere appreciation for the valuable services rendered by the employees and members.

We continue to be committed towards creating value for all our stakeholders and adhering to the highest standards of corporate governance. I wish to thank you all for your trust and continued support.

Regards,

Sd/-
