Dear Shareholder,

The year 1998-99 ended on just about the same note as the previous year. For the greater part of the year, the automobile industry was reeling under the impact of the severe slump in demand. The after-market was not very much better either and was characterised by a significant lack of buoyancy. The combined effect of these factors affected very severely the performance of your company.

With judicious work-mix management and tight control on costs, your company was able to steer a relatively safe course through this difficult period and in fact at the end of the year had recorded a small incremental improvement in its sales. However the ever-escalating costs eroded severely the margins that should have been available and the company's profit level was much lower than those of the previous years.

However, there is some cheer in the air and the gloom over the industrial horizon appears to be lifting. The economy is showing signs of a vigorous recovery and this is being mirrored in the automobile industry particularly in the commercial vehicles segment.

The company has managed well adversities of last year and has placed itself in an advantageous position to derive the maximum benefits from the opportunities that will emerge from the recovering economy.

It has protected fully its excellent position both with the OEM community and in the Trade. Through its close association with NPR it has retained its technological edge over the competitors. It has installed sufficient capacities to meet increasing demand volumes. A new production line has been set up for rings for two wheelers, a segment that has remained impervious to the fluctuations in the market and continued to grow at an impressive rate.

The company has commenced the new year with enthusiasm and confidence and I am sure that the results of the current year's performance will be considerably better.

On behalf of the company, I acknowledge thankfully the support the company received from Nippon Piston Ring Co. Ltd. and India Pistons Limited.

On your behalf and my own I compliment the management and employees at all levels on the excellent manner in which they rallied together under trying conditions last year.

Yours sincerely,

Chennai
26th July 1999.

A. SIVASAILAM
Chairman.

DIVIDEND

Your Directors recommend a dividend of 15% for the year ended March 31, 1999.

OPERATIONS

Depressed conditions prevailing for some time in the Automobile Industry continued over the whole of the year 1998-99. The Commercial Vehicle segment was the worst affected with its total market shrinking to 42% of what it was in 1996-97, and consequently leading to severe production cut backs and shrinkage of sales volumes. The impact of this situation translated into reduced schedules for components and continuous pressure on the industry's supply sources for reductions in prices of components. Consequently the year 1998-99 was a difficult one for the component industry and in its case the difficulty was further aggravated by the lack of buoyancy in the after-market. At the industry level the situation was one of decline in net profits in spite of some incremental improvement in sales turnover.

Your company had to operate in this scenario, and was able to achieve a sales turnover of Rs. 28.47 crores as against Rs. 27.18 crores recorded in the previous year. The marginal improvement in the sales turnover was made possible by judicious work-mix management and through additional revenue earned from jobbing work against orders from Nippon Piston Ring Company Ltd., Japan. However, the steep escalation in the costs of inputs, price reduction in supplies to the OEMs and higher discounts to the Trade in the after-market had an adverse impact on the profit level pushing it down to a level lower than that for the previous year.

OUTLOOK

At the commencement of the current financial year the outlook is less gloomy than in the previous year with signs of recovery emerging in the automobile industry. In the commercial vehicle segment in particular there has been a considerable spurt in vehicle sales during the first half of the calendar year and it is believed that this will be sustained during the entire year. Consequently, the forecast for the components industry is optimistic with the possibility of better utilisation of installed capacities.

Your company's performance has shown a perceptible improvement during the first quarter and with all-round efforts to step up the company's product range along with cost reduction and productivity improvements, your Directors are confident of achieving higher turnover and profits during the current year.

On the export front, your company's efforts have resulted in securing export orders from the collaborators – Nippon Piston Ring Company Ltd.

The new line for manufacturing two-wheeler rings will be going into production shortly and will start to contribute to the company's sales performance.
