Management Discussion and Analysis

A report on the Management Discussion and Analysis is placed at Annexure-I.

Hotels Division

The year 2005-2006 has been a most successful year for the Ashok Group. The overall occupancy level increased from 58% to 60% during the year. The turnover increased to Rs. 150.48 crore in 2005-06 from Rs. 120.90 crore in 2004-05. The Ashok Hotel, New Delhi has performed exceptionally well during the year.

To enhance brand value as The Ashok, the hotel aggressively marketed into the newer segments to improve the market value. Similarly, Hotel Samrat and Hotel Janpath improved their room product to have image makeover. Hotel Samrat launched its new outlet of the city "The Chakras", an international multi-cuisine rest-bar. This Hotel also renovated its guestrooms and added amenities for the guests. Hotel Janpath too started with the process of product improvement and creation of certain superior rooms with additional amenities/facilities.

To retain its popularity and market share, certain food and beverage outlets in The Ashok viz Frontier, Soho-Ssteel, Orange Room Capital and Boyarin were relaunched after the makeover.

The Ashok group of hotels continued to play host to several prestigious international and national level conventions/events during the year. These included Semester at Seas Movement, Parma Awardees, IIT Alumni Dinner, UNICEF Conference, PEDICPON 2006, Notional Policy Conference, Defence Expo, International Watch and Clock Conference, Fertilizer Association of India Conference, Department of Science and Technology Conference on Fly Ash, IPMA World Congress on Water Resources, International Conference on Women and Health, etc. The Ashok group also hosted the delegations from Denmark, Sudan, Malaysia, Italy, Hungary, Jordan, America, Cambodia, china, Sri Lanka, Pakistan, Russia, Indonesia, Serbia, UK etc. It also contributed in popularizing the Indian cuisine by participating in the food festivals abroad.

Ashok International Trade Division

The four major suppliers, namely, UDV/Diageo, Seagram, BAT and PMI had either stopped or were about to stop the supplies pending resolutions of long outstanding issues on price revision, demand for changing the business transaction currency and other critical issues. These suppliers together constituted about 60% of the sale of the Division. All the issues were successfully negotiated and resolved and continuity of supplies was restored.

The Division persuaded and obtained aggressive promotions from the suppliers. UDV and Seagram offered promotions on "Buy 2, get 1 free basis" for the first time on their high selling liquor brands JW Black Label and Chivas Regal respectively. UDV also ran promotions for the first time on their premium brands like JW Blue Label, Gold Label, Green Label etc.

For the first time, the AITD faced real competition from the private sector. Flemingo started operating their shops in Delhi from May 2005. Despite stiff competition, penetrating pricing and cannibalisation of sales by the private operator, the Division by making concerted efforts, offering aggressive promotion, identifying goods not sold by the competitor maintained the sales of Delhi shops very close to the level of sales of the last year.

AIT Division made a profit of Rs. 15.75 crore during the year 2005-06 as against Rs.13.13 crore in previous year.

The Division is passing through one of the most critical phases in its existence. The market share is steadily shrinking. The duty free operations at Delhi Airport had to be closed down in early January 2007. However, the licensing period for operation of shops at Mumbai is extended by the airport operator for a short period upto 31st May 2007. In order to bring on board the international experience and expertise in duty free business, a joint venture company is being set up in collaboration with M/s Aldeasa of Spain, the fifth largest duty free operator in the world. The proposed Joint Venture Company has participated for the first time in a global tender for concession rights for duty free business at Mumbai International Airport and has succeeded in securing the concession rights for three years w.e.f. June 2007. Besides, the Division is exploring new avenues of sale through newer channels like duty free sale through seaport, land border and in-flight sale. It is also exploring the possibility of sales through down-town shops. Your Company is optimistic that duty free sales in the coming years are set to grow, despite the present set back of loosing concession rights at Delhi Airport to a private duty free operator, after global tendering.

ARMS Division

The Ashok Reservation and Marketing Service Division (ARMS) has established itself as a successful Event Management Division of the Company. During the year under review, this Division handled 50 conferences of varying sizes including prestigious international events like WTTTC Global Summit, CDM Workshop, International Conference on Plasticulture, PPDIF Conference etc. The Division also participated in international travel marts like ITB Berlin and EIBTM.

Although assignments on new Sound & Light Shows and print jobs were procured, the decrease in the turnover could not be made up.
