MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS REPORT

Industry Structure & Development

The Indian healthcare industry is widely perceived to be the next sunrise industry considering the innate potential of the sector. CMIE estimates, the industry to be at Rs. 730 billion (US $15 million) and expects it to grow by 13% to 15% in the next 5-10 years.

The healthcare sector was recognised as an Industry only in the mid 1980's. Consequently, allowance of long term funding by the financial institutions and reduced import duties on medical equipment and technology have been some of the benefits provided by the Government from time to time. Another driver for growth in this sector is the burgeoning middle class in the country. According to CMIE estimates the middle and higher income population as a proportion of total population has grown to 22% in the calendar year 2000 from 14% in the calendar year 1990. The insurance sector has been opened up and health insurance will make healthcare affordable to a large number of people.

Although the prospects for the industry are encouraging, the situation in the past has been different. The Industry has been dominated by the Govt. Hospitals and other small Hospitals and Clinics run by non - corporate entities, mainly charitable institutions and private practitioners. High Capital Investment, long gestation period and required medical expertise have been the major detriment to investments in this Industry. Further, fragmentation and poor insurance penetration have also plagued this Industry in the country.

One of the major players in the Industry is Apollo Hospitals, which is pioneer of corporate Hospitals in the country and has an experience in operation of hospitals and providing consultancy for setting up and management of hospitals for over a decade.

Opportunities & Threats:

The bed to population ratio in India is one of the lowest in the world, with one bed for 1300 persons against the WHO norm of one bed for 500 persons. To reach this, an investment to a tune of about Rupees 100,000 crores is required over a period of 5-10 years. This is expected to come mainly from the private sector. Health awareness is growing
