MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

The world economy exhibited strong growth in 2005 supported by benign financial market conditions and conducive macroeconomic policies. After experiencing relatively robust growth in 2004, the US economy witnessed a moderate deceleration in 2005, reflecting the adverse one-off effects of the hurricanes. Developing countries led by China and India continued to witness a strong momentum in GDP growth which splurged global growth in 2005.

The year 2005 has turned out better than might have been expected, given the rapidly spiralling oil prices, continued sluggishness in Western Europe, particularly in the euro- zone economies and the over-hang of the large trade and budget deficits in the USA. Rise in oil prices has triggered inflationary pressures globally, remaining the single largest risk to the global economy. The world economy is projected to continue with its growth momentum in 2006.

Indian Economy

India's economy is on the fulcrum of an ever increasing growth curve. With positive indicators such as a stable 8 percent annual growth, rising foreign exchange reserves of close to US$ 140 billion, a booming capital market with the popular "Sensex" crossing the magical 11,000 mark, flowing foreign direct investment (FDI) close to US$ 8 billion, and increase in exports, it is easy to grasp why India is a leading destination for foreign investment. The GDP grew by 7.4 per cent in the first quarter and 6.6 per cent in the second quarter of the year 2005-2006. The upward revision in real GDP growth to 7.5-8.0% turned out to be in alignment with the advance estimate of Central Statistical Organisation at 8.1% for 2005-2006.

Industrial production registered strong growth during April-February 2005-06. The manufacturing sector recorded growth of 9.0 per cent in 2005-06 (April-February) . On the whole, industrial production recorded growth of 8.0 per cent .Growth in the services sector accelerated to 9.9 per cent during April-December 2005, benefiting from robust growth in the major sub-sectors viz., 'trade, hotels, transport and communication', 'financing, insurance, real estate and business services' and 'construction'.

CAPITAL MARKETS

The capital market in India witnessed a sharp surge with BSE striking the 9,000 mark for the first time in its history on November 28, 2005. The Sensex scaled another peak on December 12, 2005 as it breached the 9,100 mark to hit a new high 9,175.60. The sensex crossed the magical 11,000 mark touching an all time high of 11,356.95 as of March 31, 2006. The buoyant mood in the capital market in the first half of the year was also reflected in the initial public offerings (IPOs) and privately placed debt by corporates. The buoyancy reflected strong fundamentals of the economy, healthy corporate results, liquidity support from mutual funds and FII flows. India's popularity among investors can be gauged from the fact that the number of FIIs registered with SEBI has considerably increased. In 2005 alone, 145 new FIIs registered themselves. Strong liquidity inflows have helped Indian stock markets outperform most emerging markets in 2005. Not only the foreign fund flow are driving markets up, even domestic investors are pouring money into equities.

The business segment in which your Company operates i.e investment activities is greatly influenced by the overall economic scene, affected by regulatory measures and various socio-political factors prevalent in the country. With strong fundamentals, India has the distinction of consistent returns from the equities. Indian equities have delivered the highest returns in the world.

SEGMENT -WISE PERFORMANCE

Your company is an investment company and operates in this one segment. The financial markets remained orderly during 2005-2006. The BSE Sensex, which is the barometer of index for investments, was at 6506.60 on opening of April 1, 2005, it touched an all time historical high at 11,356.95 on March 31, 2006 and finally closed at 11279.96 on the same day. The market value of the company's quoted investments as on March 31, 2006 was Rs.10030.53 lakhs which is 154.44% higher than the book value.

OPPORTUNITIES, THREATS, RISKS AND CONCERNS

The investment portfolio of your Company is well diversified. Your company has also started trading in derivative instruments (Futures and Options). Your company has embarked upon a dynamic investment strategy and with right mix of old and new economy, aspires to achieve better growth in the ensuing year.

FINANCIAL PERFORMANCE

The total income for the year under review is higher at Rs. 7376.47 lakhs as compared to Rs.2243.97 lakhs in the previous year, an increase of about 228.72%. This increase in total income is due to the net profits on the sale of long term investments totalling Rs.7131.38 lakhs, as compared to Rs.1951.96 lakhs in the previous year. The Company has also repaid a substantial amount of its third party debts, out of the cash flow from the sale of long-term investments, achieving a considerable saving in interest costs. With the improving economic scene, the Company expects to perform better during the current year

INTERNAL CONTROL SYSTEM

The company has installed an adequate system of internal controls in all spheres of its activity. This is to ensure that all assets are safeguarded and protected against loss from unauthorised use or disposition, and that the transactions are authorized, recorded and reported diligently. The internal control is supplemented by an effective internal audit being carried out by an external firm of Chartered Accountants. The Management regularly reviews the findings of these internal auditors and takes appropriate steps to implement these suggestions and observations.

HUMAN RESOURCES

As on March 31, 2006 the Company had 6 employees. There have been very cordial relations between the employees and management.

OUTLOOK

The second week of May 2006 saw a great convulsion in the World Financial System. After rising to near peak levels, shares fell sharply on World Stock Exchanges, especially in Emerging Markets. There was a global melt down in equity and commodity markets which can be largely attributed to rising concerns amongst global investors with relation to US Federal Reserves continuing to raise interest rates, sharp correction in commodities particularly metals and hike in dollar interest rates which caused fears of an economic slow down in US resulting in pulling out of funds by FIIs.

Indian equities declined by nearly 13.3%, since the BSE sensitive index hit an all time high of 12,612 on May 10, 2006. There is an alert from a major investment banker of a further drop of around 20% in the Indian stock markets over the next one year. Also, there is a growing concern how global equity markets will behave in coming weeks / months especially given heightened volatility in dollar and various commodities. However if proper correction is done in commodity markets, fear of inflation may recede, interest rates increases may be paused and stock markets may rally in response. This may be a likely scenario in next 2 – 3 months unless event risks such as rising tension in Middle East or oil prices derail the uptrend and dent investor sentiment.

Despite the crash, fundamentals in India continue to remain strong. Growth drivers for the economy continue to remain intact. For the year 2006-07 it is estimated that GDP growth should come in at 7.5% while corporate earning should grow at 20%.

As for India, under the assumption of a normal monsoon, an accelerated growth in agriculture is possible and the overall industrial outlook continues to appear positive.
