	Sugar Industry :
	India's requirement of sugar will be around 220 lakh tons per annum whereas this year, ie: 2008-2009 the production is only 147 lakh tons. The gap of 73 lakh tons between supply and demand will be met by the existing carry forward stocks from the previous seasons. But this facility may not be available from next year onwards.

THE JEYPORE SUGAR COMPANY LIMITED

In 2009-2010 season, the expected production of sugar is around 165 lakh tons against the requirement of 225 lakh tons. The gap between the supply and demand for the coming year will be 60 lakh tons. This gap has to be bridged either by import of raw sugar for conversion to white sugar or alternatively import of white sugar directly.

The strong import demand from India, Pakistan, European Union and China is pushing up the global sugar price. There is not enough surplus sugar in the world market to meet the Indian shortage. Hence there is likelihood of the sugar price rising substantially in the next two years.

It is absolutely essential that the Govt. of India should review their agricultural policy and give a fair price for the sugarcane in order to face the competition from other crops. Otherwise the crop under cane cultivation will further shrink and create crises in the near future.

Because of the controls of the Government on the sugar industry, the cane growers are diverting to other crops. Even the cane that is available on the field is being diverted to Jaggery, which is fetching them very high returns. The jaggery rate in the market is now Rs.40/- per kg whereas sugar is being sold at Rs.22/-. Some of the sugar in the market is purchased by jaggery manufacturers for mixing in the jaggery to give it a better colour, which fetched higher price.

As far as the company is concerned it is to be noted that the cane available is around 7 lakh tons for the coming season ie: 2009-2010 season. The June, July seed cane plantation is expected to be around 4000 acres. An expected cane crop of 11 to 12 lakh tons can be developed for 2010-2011 season. The Company is taking further steps by giving higher incentives to cane growers and adopting mechanization in the field operations for even higher supply of cane in the coming years.

NEW SUGAR UNIT AT POTHAVARAM

The new sugar mill project at Pothavaram has reached the final stage. The Plant & Machinery erection is almost complete and the ancillary systems are being put in place. It is hoped that the new sugar mill will be ready for commencement of operation in the coming season depending on the cane availability.
