MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION AND ANALYSISIndian capital market

During 2006-2007, the stock market in India continued its upward trend for the fourth year in succession. However, the rate of growth was considerably lower than that seen in the previous years, with the BSE Sensex increasing by 16% and the BSE-200 Index increasing by 10% during the year under review. The modest increases in these indices between the beginning and end of the financial year do not reflect the relatively large swings in prices during the year which have now become rather frequent, indicating a high level of volatility in our markets, particularly over the last 2 years.

As in the past 3-4 years, the markets have reacted favourably to certain major positive factors in the Indian economy, namely the high GDP growth rate of over 8%, sustained growth in corporate earnings and the continuing in-flow of large funds from Foreign Institutional Investors (FII's). Though the net investments by FII's declined from the level of $10 billion per year witnessed over the preceding three years to about $7 billion during 2006-2007, reports about the increasing number of FII's and 'hedge funds' with enormous investible resources coming into the Indian markets, continue to contribute to the bullish trend of the stock market. It is worth noting that the cumulative FII investments in the Indian stock market is now estimated to be over $50 billion, the current market value of which will obviously be much higher. The Indian Mutual Funds also continued to attract very large inflows and a reasonable part of these funds are now invested in the equity markets. This combined pressure of funds and the generally perceived positive outlook on India continues to take the stock market prices to increasingly higher levels particularly in the absence of an equally large supply of new stocks coming into the markets during the last year - though it is expected that there would be several new public issues in the current financial year.

Outlook

The company expects the Indian financial services sector to remain buoyant, powered by a strong economic performance, stable interest rates and changing demographics. However the rising of interest rates globally and volatile crude prices may continue to dampen the capital market from time to time.

The company is bullish on the long-term scenario of the capital markets. Your company is well positioned to reap the benefits of this growth. Your company has become a one-stop shop for investors, with the company offering services ranging from advisory services, broking services, portfolio management, depository services and mutual fund and insurance products distribution.

Opportunities and threats

Your Company has embarked on capitalizing the opportunities on the Wealth Management Services front. There is an increasing demand for the advisory services and more awareness on investment planning among investors. Your Company recognizes that sound investment planning advice along with the Company being able to offer bouquet of investment products to its customers besides transaction execution capabilities is a key thrust area and thereby is planning to focus on the same.

The Stock broking Industry has witnessed intense competition, falling brokerage rates and the entry of several big players. Your Company continues to achieve cost efficiencies through the application of technology.

Risk management system

Your company has proper and adequate system of internal controls commensurate with the size and nature of its business. However, strengthening of internal control systems is an ongoing exercise.

Your company manages risks associated with broking operations using internally developed credit monitoring system implemented through fully automated risk management software and selective direct monitoring of certain operating parameters. The automated risk management procedures rely primarily on internally developed risk management system and systems provided by system vendors. The company manages business risks through strict compliance and internal checks. It will not be out of context to state that the system has worked very effectively during the year under review.

Further the company has an independent internal audit system. The process of internal audit involves, reviewing of existing controls and systems. Internal Audit also recommends the actions for strengthening of the business processes. The internal audit ensures adherence to operating guidelines, regulatory and legal requirements.

Risk and concerns

Economic slowdown, with continuously rising crude prices and any further rise in interest rates are the current factors of concern as these factors may impact the industrial growth. Even though the company has initiated the strategy to have diverse revenue streams such as broking commissions, fees from distribution of MF, Insurance and other personal products etc. The substantial part of earnings depends upon stock market performance which in turn is greatly influenced by the economic performance of the country. The company's earnings would be affected if the Stock markets were to decline sharply, rather if volumes in market were to dwindle.

Further any rise in interest rates in the developed markets leads to an outflow of funds from emerging markets like India back to the developed countries. Extraordinary volatility in the capital markets due to these events could lead to temporary drop in volumes in current year.

Employee retention is of a concern with ever increasing number of players in the industry resulting in growing number of opportunities for professionals. Higher attrition rate may affect the performance of the company.

As the company uses the network systems for off line and on line broking, breakdown in systems can affect the turnover and revenues. The company has installed 100% system redundancy to ensure uninterrupted quick connectivity.

Human resource

Being a part of the financial service sector your company values human resource as human capital, which is equally important as financial capital for the growth of the Company. Your company strongly believes that Human Resources are key to the success of any company and your company is taking all possible steps to employ, develop and retain the appropriate quality of resources to aid the company in achieving success. Your company continuously endeavors to attract and retain professional talent.

Internal control system

As noted by the auditors in their report, the Company has an Internal Control System commensurate with its requirements and the size of business.
