YEAR 2000 COMPLIANCE

Your Company commenced the work on Year 2000 (Y2K) compliance towards end of 1998 under the supervision of its Corporate I.T.Department. After assessing the effect date change on the Computer Systems, the Y2K team has identified all equipment and software programs that are likely to be affected by the millennium bug and is in touch with the manufacturers of those equipment to ascertain the status.

. Data Processing hardware and operating systems :

All financial accounting and other data processing systems are operating on Y2K complaint systems. However, some of the old PCs and the older versions of the operating systems would be replaced by October 1999 any delay on this count will not affect the main processing and hence, there is no need for any contingency plan in this regard.

. Data Processing Software :

All main applications are working on Y2K complaint programs. However, a few secondary applications which were developed in-house under COBOL and FOXPRO will be converted or amended by our own software team to make them Y2K complaint by November, 1999.

The company will continue to maintain the systems, both hardware and software, that have been already tested as Y2K complaint, during the current year date change. The management has ensured that there would be no material impact caused by the Y2K issue on the financial statements of the Company nor will it have any impact on the going concern status of the Company.
