The Company brought additional area of nearly 3000 sq. mtrs. under open cultivation of Tube Rose. Further, Golden Rod plantation was carried out in 5600 sq. mtrs. on erstwhile waste land. With all these efforts the Company's income from Horticulture increased compared to the first year of operation. The Company has rented part of the premises and godowns which are not put to horticulture operations.

Management Discussion and Analysis Report

a) Industry structure and development

The Company has reasons to be satisfied with its performance in the field of Horticulture, especially as the venture has been undertaken in erstwhile industrial land, overcoming the inherent drawback of poor quality soil. The Company is focusing more and more on soilless cultivation and hydroponics. Hydroponics and soilless cultivation are especially suitable for growing medicinal plants as well as other crops free from any heavy metallic impurities. The Company is going to focus on growing vegetables in the days to come to generate more revenues.

b) Opportunities and threat

The future of agro industries and horticulture remains bright. The Company would gradually move towards growing vegetables and medicinal plants to earn higher revenues. The ready availability of infrastructure would permit the Company to get into processing and packing of agricultural products. However, the extreme weather conditions and poor quality of water continue to pose a threat, which has to be countered by use of R.O. Plant with resultant significant cost additions.

c) Segment-wise/Product-wise performance

The Company has performed satisfactorily in the Horticulture in its second year of operations. The turnover is Rs.41.21 lacs as against Rs.8.85 lacs last year.

d) Outlook

e) Risks and concerns

The marketing of horticulture products is a challenging task, as apart from being a perishable commodity, the market is very volatile. The Company is leveraging on its past marketing experience to overcome these problems by exploring possibility of tying up with dedicated vendors and long term contracts.

f) Internal control system and their adequacy

The Company has computerised its accounting system since many years which has proved versatile. The system of internal control of the Company is commensurate with the size and complexity of the Company's business. In addition, the operations are subject to periodic internal audit by independent Auditors.

g) Financial performance with respect to Operational Performance is discussed in the main part of the report
