MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION & ANALYSIS

Industry Structure and Development

There are over 12,630 Non-Banking Finance Companies (NBFCs) in India which are registered with Reserve Bank Of India (RBI). Whereas most of these NBFCs are Non-Deposit taking NBFCs known as NBFC-ND, almost 308 of them are authorized to accept public deposits. There has been sharp decline in Deposit taking NBFCs which has fallen from 624 in 1999 to 308 in 2010. These NBFCs are having total assets of Rs 109,324 crores, having public deposits of Rs 17,247 crores with net owned funds of Rs 16,178 crores as at March 2010. Erstwhile, there were equipment leasing companies, hire purchase companies together with loan companies, investment companies and asset finance companies but post 2006, there are just last three types of NBFCs categorized in India. Of late, fourth category of infrastructure finance was categorized seeing the significance of infrastructure finance in our country. These NBFCs are primarily in the business of financing the purchase of commercial vehicles, passenger cars, multi utility and multi purpose vehicles, two and three wheelers, construction equipments financing and financing of consumer durables and other forms of financing. The segment of NBFC is growing at the steady pace over the period of time confronting stiff competition from banks. While most of the business of NBFCs have been bettered off by the banks which have extended their area of activities, the NBFCs have confined their activities to very limited extent in the recent times. This is on account of reforms in the laws that have taken place over a period of time that have put the banks on the stronger footing and allowing them to caper into almost all the finance related activities. Banks too, in line with this law reforms, have well exploited the benefits by dispersion of their activities manifold. Whereas the NBFCs in India are active only in very limited arenas, they are quite active in other economies like US, UK and Malaysia and have lions share with their peers like banking and other form of financing business. However, in Non-banking financial Institutes (NBFIs), the contribution of NBFCs cant be undermined for providing the financial assistance to common people for whom banks and other FIs are at no patronage.

Global economies which was earlier predicted to post a growth rate at 5 per cent, is now likely to grow at 4.5 per cent as per the prediction of International Monetary Fund (IMF) in their world Economic Outlook. Whereas the inflation is the biggest cause of concern in emerging economies like India and China with no exception to many other economies of the world, the growth has been hampered by the inflationary pressures on account of rate hike more often than not. India, in 2010-11, is expected to grow at scintillating 8.6 per cent pace and this growth momentum is likely to continue at 8.4 per cent for the next five years. The recovery from sub prime crisis is at a snails pace and much lower than expected. It is quite weak, uneven and fragile, with continuity of uncertainty in Europe, USA, UAE, Greece, Portugal, Ireland and Spain which are undergoing throes of economic turmoil. Adding insult to the injury, Japan which is struggling to come back on growth trajectory was further grievously jolted by earth quake and tsunami in March 2011.

The banks were concerned with the subdued credit growth of during the year, the Non Banking Finance Sector (NBFC Sector) continued to face fierce competition from the banking sector which has penetrated in almost all the segments of financial services sector. With liquidity crunch and credit squeeze, the working of Non Banking Finance Companies (NBFCs) also continued to be adversely affected by defaults and absence of proper and faster recovery laws and procedures, such as those available to banks and other financial institutions. In this cut throat competitive environment in which the NBFCs are presently functioning, they have no option but to continue streaming and optimizing their operations to adapt to the emerging scenario.

Outlook, Risks and Concerns

The year 2010-11 was a year of capital protection and survival against monstrous inflation rather than wealth creation. The cynosure was shifted from wealth creation from various assets class to hedge against inflation. The inflation has led RBI to hike many of the key rates to curb it which induced the banks to pass it on to their customers. The frequent rise in rates has been a cause of concern through out the year not only to the low income people but also to the corporate as their borrowing cost has gone at stature which has pinched their bottom lines negatively. The long term measures are lacking which are required for the satiety of demands of the extravagant populations' needs rather than the short term measures to check the inflation and with such long term measures, the long term growth of the economy can be accomplished. The other big concerns are the scams which have been the talk of the nation through out the year. The scams are not just confined to few of the unscrupulous political leaders but also have extended to top brass of some eminent companies which is being despised and condemned widely.

There is a long way to go to meet the increasing demands of middle class people, higher strength of young Indians, robust household consumption and stunning domestic demand. The government is required to grid up its loin to meet this demand. Whereas this would be a time consuming process, the silver line in dark cloud however is that the rainfall in the coming year is expected to be normal as per the prediction of metrological department. This will boost the agriculture output and can check the inflation which is likely to ease after the expected good rainfall. Once the jitters of inflation would disappear, the interest rate would come down and the growth figures shall be excellent to bring over all prosperity of the economy.

The NBFC sector in which your company operates is exposed to stiff competition from the banking sector and with timid credit growth and rising interest rate scenario on account of higher inflation, your company has cut down its exposure to credit operations. The company's operations continued to be focused on capital market related activities. Further, your company will continue to explore additional opportunities in areas related to its operations.

NBFC is exposed to normal industry risk such as credit, interest rate, economic, political, market and operation risks. The company views risk management as integral to its business for creating and maintaining best practices in business operations and administration. Your company follows prudent business and risk management practices to combat these challenges.

Your company is almost a debt-free company. It is persistently pursuing a conservative investment policy over the years and exposure to almost risk free or low risk activities. This approach leads to a larger shareholder value in the long run and is in line with our vision for growth.

Opportunities and threat:

For an investment NBFC, the capital market has a significant role to play. For last three years the capital market has remained quite subdued and is tailspinning and given a sheer 10 per cent return. Once the inflation would be around 4 to 5 per cent, the market is going to zoom again to recover the carnage of last three years to gallop its CAGR of 18%. The Earning per share (EPS) of BSE Sensex for FY 2011 is likely to be at Rs 1070 and the expected EPS for 2011-12 and 2012-2013 is Rs 1150 and Rs 1322. Discounting the EPS at 20 times, the sensex is likely to see the levels of 23000 to 26500 in coming time from its current level of 18000. Commodities like gold and silver have given blistering return in 2010 -11 as the investors fraternity rushed to buy these precious metals to hedge against inflation. The credit growth at 20 per cent too was not so encouraging in 2010-11 which would find it momentum once again when the interest rate shall be around 7 to 8 per cent. The market dislikes the political and corporate scams and roaring inflations. Once these negatives are vanished, the sensex is capable to put the gains of 1000 points in just span of 15 to 30 trading sessions. Even on primary market front, the year gone passed has nothing to cheer about. There were only 67 public offerings in 2010-11 through which Rs 55,613 crore is raised. Many companies have either dropped or postponed their fund raising exercise and very few issues have came up in last three years. There are lot of companies in pipeline to raise the money in the upcoming period once the lacklustre is over in the Dalal Street.

Adequacy of internal control:

Your company has proper and adequate system of internal control in place to monitor persistently proper recording of the transactions as per the policies and procedures laid down by the company. The company ensures that the regulatory guidelines are duly complied with at all the levels. The internal audit reports are regularly monitored by the Audit Committee.

Segment wise performance:

The company is a Non Banking Finance Company; its core business is financial business. Hence, there are no separate segments for reporting as per Accounting Standard-17 issued by the Institute Of Chartered Accountants Of India.

Discussion on financial performance with respect to operational performance:

The profit after tax for the current year is Rs 42.10 lacs as against profit after tax of Rs 28.13 lacs in the last year. The company's revenue is derived from the dividend income, profit from sale of investments and interest income from advances etc.

Human resource and Industrial Relations:

For enhanced performance of any organization, its important that its human resources are abreast of new developments and possess relevant skill sets. To realize this, the emphasis on training and development activities has been increased. Executives were nominated for various program and seminars at local and national levels by premier institutes.

Cautionary Statement:

The statements in above analysis, describing the company's projections, estimates, expectations and predictions may be 'forward looking statements' within the meaning of applicable security laws and regulations. The actual results may differ from those expressed or implied. The important factors that may impact the operations of the company may consist of economic developments - globally and locally, government regulations, tax regimes and other related factors.
