MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION & ANALYSIS

World in shackles of financial crisis

Post sub prime crisis in US in 2008, the apprehension of fast recovery across the globe has ended in a smoke and none of the efforts of stimulation packages, booster doses, tax benefits could derive any fruitful results to get rid of chronic depression still sustaining in the cosmos. No countries in the world can preclude itself from the shackles of economics & political crisis. The sovereign crisis took its start from US and grappled Dubai, Portugal, Ireland, Italy, Greece, Spain and other Eurozones. With US continuing to grow at lower pace and Euro to continue its troubles, the growth rate of global economy is projected at 3.5%. Even the emerging economies of BRICS are feeling the impact of slow down. Fastest growing China too has started giving the signs of slowdown.

Indian Economy chugging along

The GDP growth in India has been consistently going down from 9% to 6%. India is estimated to grow at 6.9 per cent in 2011-12 but grown at 6.5% pre-eminently due to high interest rate led by high inflation and commodity prices and in short run, there is no reason for cherish. But there are strong reasons to be bullish on Indian growth in long run mainly due to favourable demographics, strong consumption story, growing middle class disposable income and higher domestic saving rates. Political scams and lack of reforms are growth laggards, contributing negatively in sentiments.

NBFC sector

Non-banking financial companies (NBFCs) are mostly private sector institutions which provide a variety of services including equipment leasing, hire purchase, loans, and investments. NBFCs perform a diversified range of functions and offer various financial services to individual, corporate and institutional clients. They have been helping to bridge the credit gaps in several sectors where the institutions like banks are unable to venture. RBI recently has created a separate kind of NBFC being micro finance institution (MFI) with that, there are now seven categories of NBFCs namely asset finance company (AFC), investment company (IC), loan company (LC), infrastructure finance company (IFC), core investment company (CIC), infrastructure debt fund NBFC (IDF –NBFC) and NBFC micro finance institution (NBFC-MFI). NBFCs can also be classified on the basis of the kind of liabilities they access, the type of activities they pursue, and of their perceived systemic importance. On the basis of liabilities, there are two categories, (i) NBFCs holding and accepting public deposits or NBFCs-D, and (ii) NBFCs not having public deposits or NBFCs-ND. With higher inflation and high rate of interest, the credit off take shall continue to be disappointing and estimated at 17% in 2013. Even the banks were confronted immense credit squeeze in 2011-12 with high inflation and interest rates, the NBFCs also faced huge shrinkage in credit growth. With multiple hikes in interest rate in last 18 months, the bad loans are expected to be at Rs 2,00,000 crores by March 2013 as per CRISIL. Non performing assets (NPAs) too are likely to go up to 2 to 3% for banks and NBFCs dampening the growth of all NBFCs. The capital market too being in lackluster has adversely effected the investment NBFCs. Banks too are sitting on piles of applications for Corporate Debt Restructuring (CDR) from corporate india showing their inability to pay the loans. All in all, the year 2011-12 was a challenging year for NBFC sector.

Outlook, Risks and Concerns

Seeing the large fiscal deficit, political constrains and reforms taking place at a snail's pace, leading rating agency standard and poors has downgraded India outlook from stable to negative with this the short term outlook for india is not so optimistic and hence Morgan Stanley has recently downgraded india's GDP forecast for 2013 from 6.9% to 6.3% but in long run, India is poised nicely on global footprints. After succession of rate hikes in last two years, the RBI has initiated reducing the rates. The monsoon prediction too is normal and hence going forward the rates are likely to ease faster than expectation. Good expected monsoon would increase the agriculture produce and that would in turn curb the inflation. The global economies too after a successive three years of worries, would once again gain momentum and the emerging economies like India, China, Brazil etc. would take their leaderships. Once the inflations and interest rates are at satisfactory levels, the NBFCs would again be on their growth trajectory in their retails financing, core investment and infrastructure finance businesses.

Opportunities and threat

The company is a core investment NBFC striving to pick up opportunities from the capital market which has been languishing in a narrow range. The much awaited recovery has a long waiting period of more than three to four years now. With sovereign financial crisis, the India too albeit not much adversely effected as the rest of the world is, but the pace of growth has faced slow down as one can't apply the theory of decoupling when various economies of the world are dependent on others in today's scenario when the world has become a global village.

In the primary market too during 2011-12, hardly Rs 5000 crores are mobilized through fund raising by new public offers and only 30 companies could sail smoothly in this financial Tsunami. The venture capital and PE funds too took back steps in this gloomy economic portrait. Government too failed to achieve its disinvestment target and found it extremely difficult to raise fund to cover the fiscal deficit.

The secondary market with expected earning per share (EPS) of Rs 1163 for year 2012 and Rs 1303 for year 2013 of BSE 30 companies, is expected to remain in narrow range of 14000 to 18000 on BSE sensx in 2012 -13 discounting the same at 12 to 14 times. The introduction of General Anti Avoidance rules (GAAR) has raised tax implication probabilities in minds of Foreign Institutional investors inducing them not only to hold their investment flows in India but to exit from present equity exposures in India.

Internal control:

Your company has proper and adequate system of internal control in place to monitor persistently proper recording of the transactions as per the policies and procedures laid down by the company. The company ensures that the regulatory guidelines are duly complied with at all the levels. The internal audit reports are regularly monitored by the Audit Committee.

Segment wise performance:

The company is a Non Banking Finance Company; its core business is financial business. Hence, there are no separate segments for reporting as per Accounting Standard-17 issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India.

Company's financial scorecard

In this unstable economic environment and global carnage where most of the companies put a poor show, your company too is no exception to that incurring a loss of Rs 10.03 lacs in current fiscal as against profit after tax of Rs 42.10 lacs in the last year largely on account of subdued capital market. The company's revenue is derived from the dividend income, profit from sale of investments and interest income from advances etc. The fall in market is taken up as an opportunity to buy the bellwether companies. The company would consistently look to pick up every available investment opportunity by doing the cherry pick of blue chip companies from the capital market.

Human Capital:

For enhanced performance of any organization, it is important that its human resources are abreast of new developments and possess relevant skill sets. To realize this, the emphasis on training and development activities has been increased. Executives were nominated for various program and seminars at local and national levels by premier institutes.

Cautionary Statement:

The statements in above analysis, describing the company's projections, estimates, expectations and predictions may be 'forward looking statements' within the meaning of applicable security laws and regulations. The actual results may differ from those expressed or implied. The important factors that may impact the operations of the company may consist of economic developments – globally and locally, government regulations, tax regimes and other related factors.
