Dear Unit Holder

At the start of 2008, very few people would have predicted that we were poised to enter perhaps the most difficult twelve month period in financial market history, and likewise at the beginning of 2009, even fewer would have predicted any recovery.

Having said that, we believe that the worst is now behind us, and the global economy will continue its slow and gradual path back to stability and growth. It is widely expected that China and India will take the lead in terms of economic revival and that will continue to have a positive impact on our markets in the medium term.

It is very heartening to note the investors have generally remained invested in equity schemes over this period, and this patience has been rewarded in some measure, by the sharp rally in equity markets this year. We would strongly recommend that you remain invested and committed to the long term, and avoid the temptation to 'book profits' or 'cut losses'.

At Morgan Stanley Mutual Fund, it has been an interesting twelve months. We started the financial year with the launch of our first open-ended multicap equity fund, Morgan Stanley A.C.E. Fund, and followed it up with the open ending of Morgan Stanley Growth Fund, our large cap oriented equity fund. We also launched two debt funds, Morgan Stanley Short Term Bond Fund and Morgan Stanley Active Bond Fund. Over the next year, our plan is to significantly increase the product offerings that we have, and continue to work on improving the consistency of our investment performance, the reach of our distribution network and efficiency of our customer service.

We would strongly encourage you to keep us informed on any changes to your investor profile such as bank account details, email id, etc. as that helps us reach you better, as well as improves the service delivery manifold. Recent changes in technology and infrastructure allow for a quantum change in service standards, and we need your help in terms of updated information to deliver this higher level of service.

Finally, we would request you to become an investor across our fund family. Our records show that most of our unit holders have investment in only one out of the four schemes we currently have, and we want you to consider all our schemes, the next time you invest in mutual funds.

Our long-term vision is to become the 'mutual fund of choice' for our unit holders. Whilst we have a long way to go in this regard, we have made reasonable strides in the last year, particularly in the area of customer service and investment performance.

Your support, feedback and continued patronage over the coming years will be much appreciated, and will go a long way in helping us achieve our long-term goal.

Thanking You,

With regards,

Anthony Heredia
Chief Executive Officer

1. Scheme Performance, Future Outlook and Operations of the Schemes of Morgan Stanley Mutual Fund:

[a] Performance of Morgan Stanley Growth Fund [MSGF] vis-à-vis benchmark index as of March 31, 2009:

(Figures in %)

Period	MSGF Returns*	BSE 100
Absolute returns during the trailing year [(+) (-)]	-41.32	-39.97
Compounded Annualised Returns
(i) Last 3 years	-12.45	-5.75
(ii) Last 5 years	9.06	10.75
(iii) Since inception [February 18, 1994]	9.90	6.52

Past performance may or may not be sustained in future, and may not necessarily provide basis for comparison with other investments.

*Performance of MSGF [Growth Option] has been calculated based on the assumption that all dividends during the period have been re-invested in the scheme at the then prevailing NAV. "Since Inception" returns are calculated on Rs. 10/- invested at inception.

For the 12 months ended March 31, 2009, the Scheme underperformed its Benchmark [BSE 100] by 1.35%. However, since inception, the Fund has outperformed its Benchmark by 3.38% [annualised]. In the year that passed by, from a sector allocation perspective the overweights in Consumer Discretionary and Consumer Staples contributed to performance while the underweight in Energy detracted from performance. From a stock selection perspective, positive alpha resulted from stocks within Industrials, Information Technology and Financials while stock selection in Energy, Consumer Discretionary and Materials dragged on performance.

Future Outlook for Morgan Stanley Growth Fund:

The correction that started in 2008 saw the markets grind lower all through the year. The correction precipitated into severe liquidity crunch, risk aversion and heightened volatility towards the end of the year. To counter the crisis, Central Banks across the world eased monetary policy. To add, Governments announced massive fiscal stimuli to kickstart investment and lending. Business conditions and economic indicators seem to have stabilized from the very low levels of late 2008, with financial commentators and media getting all too excited with the now over-used term "green shoots". Markets have rallied from their oversold levels as it appeared that the Developed World had averted a Great Depression scenario, and the strong monetary and fiscal stimuli had the force to create strong asset reflation across asset classes, if not a new bubble. How much further this rally can get fueled by easy liquidity, in an otherwise anemic global growth environment remains the key issue.

The BSE 100 has now rallied 80% from the March bottom and the beneficiaries have predominantly been stocks that fell out of favour in the phase of risk aversion or those that faced significant liquidity concerns. The unexpected emphatic mandate that the UPA Government received in the recently concluded general elections added to the market's upbeat mood with reforms expectations now gaining centre stage. However, we are now likely to revert to global cues to take us further from hereon.

From a portfolio standpoint though we are cautious in chasing beta but we scout for opportunities where underlying business fundamentals are improving and that is not yet fully reflected in valuations. We have not abandoned our consumption theme and continue to be overweight Consumer-related sectors. We opt to play the broader India story through Financials which remains our largest overweight. We remain cautious on Materials and Energy sector where we feel that global demand supply dynamics continue to pose headwinds to pricing and margins.

Operations of Morgan Stanley Growth Fund:

The Morgan Stanley Mutual Fund's flagship fund, Morgan Stanley Growth Fund which was launched as a close ended scheme in 1994 was converted into an open-ended fund with effect from January 19, 2009. The open ending of MSGF gave the investors the opportunity to continue with their investments in MSGF and avail advantages associated with open ended funds for e.g. daily subscriptions, redemptions, switches, Systematic Investment Plans, etc.

The Net Asset Value of MSGF, as on March 31, 2009 was Rs. 31.012 per unit for Growth Plan and Rs. 10.104 per unit for Dividend Plan [introduced effective January 19, 2009]. The Net Assets of MSGF as of March 31, 2009, were Rs.13,785 million with outstanding corpus of 446.39 million units. The net deficit for the year transferred from Revenue Reserve was Rs. 7,782.59 million as against surplus of Rs. 8,191.785 million last year.

There are no unit holders holding over 25% of the Net Asset Value of MSGF as of March 31, 2009.

REPORT FROM THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES (Contd.)

[b] Performance of Morgan Stanley A.C.E. [Across Capitalisations Equity] Fund [MSACE] vis-à-vis benchmark index as of March 31, 2009:

[Figures in %]

Period	MSACE Returns*	BSE 200
Since inception [April 3, 2008]	-38.42	-41.52

Past performance may or may not be sustained in future, and may not necessarily provide basis for comparison with other investments. *Absolute returns of MSACE [Growth Option] are computed. "Since Inception" returns are calculated on Rs. 10/- invested at inception. Since inception, the scheme has outperformed its benchmark (BSE 200) by 3.10%.

In the year passed by, from a sector allocation perspective, overweight in Banking and Consumer Staples and underweight in Materials and Real Estate helped performance while overweight in capital goods and underweight in Autos detracted from performance. Whereas, from a stock selection perspective, positive alpha resulted from stocks within Banking, Consumer Staples and Materials while stock selection in Energy and Capital Goods dragged on performance. Our higher allocation to mid caps had negative impact on performance in first half, which we corrected in October - December period.

Future outlook for Morgan Stanley A.C.E. Fund:

The political stability at the Centre and resurgence of risk appetite globally should provide India much needed foreign capital to put itself back on accelerated growth trajectory, correct the fiscal, and trade imbalances. Economic recovery and higher growth would have positive implication on corporate results, which are turning out to be largely better than expectations. The earnings upgrade cycle has already begun and hope is building for India to return to 15% earnings growth trajectory. Continuous upgrades in earnings cycle is one of the most important ingredients of a bull market and we have already started seeing signs of the same.

In terms of our portfolio, we see increasing attraction to mid & small caps, where valuations are still cheap and economic recovery would provide the platform for faster earnings improvement. Our multi-cap portfolio strategy allows us the flexibility of segment allocation based on our outlook and our allocation to mid-cap stocks has gone up. Going forward, we will continue to see a healthy mix of mid-caps in our portfolio allocation as our primary driver for alpha. In terms of sectors, we are overweight in Private Sector Banks, Power, Capital Goods, Pharmaceuticals and Consumer Staples. We are underweight Software Services, Oil Marketing Companies, and Real Estate Sector. We believe that for the next 12-15 months micro/company specific factors will dominate stock/portfolio returns and the reflection of the change would be visible in our portfolio allocation. On the balance, we believe, the portfolio is well positioned to give superior risk-adjusted returns in the forthcoming bull markets in Indian equities.

Operations of Morgan Stanley A.C.E. Fund:

During the year in April 08, the Morgan Stanley Mutual Fund launched MSACE Fund, an open ended equity scheme which proposes to generate long term capital growth from an actively managed portfolio of equity and equity-related securities including equity derivatives. The fund management approach of MSACE Fund is to be flexible across capitalizations and choose stocks/sectors/themes on individual merit.

The Net Asset Value of MSACE as on March 31, 2009 was Rs. 6.159 per unit for Growth and Dividend Plan. The Net assets of MSACE as of March 31, 2009, were Rs.742.21 million with outstanding corpus of 120.52 million units. The net deficit for the year transferred from Revenue Reserve was Rs. 439.09 million. Since the initial allotment date of the MSACE Fund is April 3, 2008, there are no corresponding numbers for the year ended March 31, 2008.

There are no unit holders holding over 25% of the Net Asset Value of MSACE Fund as of March 31, 2009.
