Performance of the Company

I am happy to inform you that the financial year 2015-16 saw a notable improvement in the operating performance of your Company, even on the back-drop of weak global demand, falling prices and over-capacities etc. Demand for Rubber Chemicals is a derived demand and is directly a function of Global Rubber Consumption, which for the year remained relatively flat. Despite this, your Company has posted a growth of 4% in its sales volume. It is pertinent to note that this growth was achieved, in spite of a conscious decision to stay away from certain traditional but non-strategic export markets, in the face of unrealistically low pricing from Chinese and Korean suppliers.

The continued weakness in the price of Crude Oil and certain Petrochemical building blocks, during the year, did have a favourable impact on the Company's Raw Material costs. However, these reductions in costs were accompanied by reductions in selling prices of finished goods. In line with our usual long-term approach to business, we have adjusted our selling prices to our regular customers to reflect these reductions in costs as also to maintain our business share at these accounts, in line with the prevailing stiff competition.

Domestic Market

Your Company achieved Domestic Sales of ₹ 580 Crores against the previous year's figure of ₹ 560 Crores. Although the value increase appears to be modest, thanks to the reduction in the selling prices of our products, it does not adequately capture the growth in the domestic sales volume and market share, in this challenging year. Higher domestic volumes, better product-mix and continual improvements in operational efficiencies, particularly at the new plant in Dahej, have been key factors in improving the operating margins.

It may also be noted that the overall situation with our consuming industry during the year remained weak. As a result, most of your Company's major customers had curtailed their capacity utilization. Consequently, your Company was also forced to align its production plan with the overall demand- trend, and in the face of un-remunerative pricing offered by our Chinese and Korean competitors, compelled us to consciously stay out of some of the customer accounts. As a result, we had to reduce the production of some of products and their intermediates, during the year. This however had the positive impact of the Company reducing its inventory levels by ₹ 55 Crores, leading to a significant reduction in working capital borrowings and bringing down financing costs.

The Indian economy exhibited significant resilience during the year in contrast to most other countries, China in particular. According to most forecasts, India's GDP growth, is expected to be in the region of 7.5% for the year 2016-17. Your Company's management expects to capitalize on this growth by further strengthening its premier position as the largest domestic player in the Rubber Chemicals business. Given the acknowledged quality of its products and services, your Company sees 2016-17, as a year of significant opportunities, to grow its volumes and improve its capacity utilization.

We expect that the major threat to this objective, is likely to be from the continued and aggressive dumping of Rubber Chemicals at unrealistically low prices by producers, mainly from China, Korea and the European Union. The poor domestic demand in China due to the slow-down in that country and the absence of growth in the EU Region may create a situation, where rubber chemicals pricing may witness further reductions in the near term. But, at the same time, the Crude Oil and its down-stream derivatives have shown a hardening trend towards the end of the financial year and as a result, the ability of these competitors to sustain such low pricing may also come under considerable strain.

In this context, it is worthwhile to note that the Government of India has created to some extent, a level playing field for your Company, by imposing Anti-Dumping duty on six products, out of about twenty products which your Company produces and markets. Ironically, the level playing field so provided by the Government, to quite some extent, was neutralized by the conscious erosion in the prices of these products, by competitors from China, Korea and the EU. Your Company continues to face these challenges and continues to counter these, by offering high quality products and service, judicious business decisions and further helped by its long reputation of a dependable supplier to the rubber industry.

Exports

Due to the weak prevalent market conditions in the European Union and Japan, your Company's export volumes remained subdued and pricing too was affected due to aggressive price undercutting resorted to, by our global competitors from China/Korea and EU. The slow-down in the domestic demand in China, was one of the most important factors behind this price undercutting despite which your Company during the year achieved an export turnover of nearly ₹ 200 Crore. Your Company adopted a judicious approach of promoting exports of only high value/specialized products, and staying away from high volume products with poor margins. In fact, your Company, over the past few years has focussed on improving its sales-mix, by promoting some speciality and high-value products to specific customers, thereby improving its margins. I am happy to inform that, with this approach, your Company, managed to achieve improved profitability in the export segment, despite forgoing volume growth. In case of some of the products, where competition is acute from China/Korea/EU and pricing unattractive, your Company has chosen to export these products, only to a certain select key accounts, keeping in mind the equally important need to maintain continuity at these accounts, as well as to ensure, our own capacity utilization remained at reasonable levels.
