Chairperson's Message

Dear Shareholders, Ladies and Gentlemen,

On behalf of the Board of Directors of The Shipping Corporation of India Ltd., I am pleased to place before you, our esteemed shareholders, the 70th Annual Report of your Company for the financial year 2019-2020. The report enumerates exhaustively your Company's performance for the financial year ended 31st March 2020. I take this opportunity, however, to touch upon salient features of your Company's achievements during the last financial year.

When the going gets tough, the tough get going and the cliché seems more than apt to describe your Company at this juncture which has displayed immense resilience, fortitude and dexterity in its operations, systems and functions during the crisis which struck us towards the end of the year. Operations across all the sectors were impacted by the outbreak of the pandemic and its cascading effects were ably sustained by your Company during these trying times in the backdrop of a well-documented "Business Continuity Plan" prepared in advance to meet the eventuality of the lockdown imposed from 24/3. The consequent restrictive work scenario brought in its wake multifaceted problems which your company braced well owing to its preparedness for such an eventuality. We pre-empted disruptions to the operations in two phases, initially, by envisioning the modalities of an alternate Plan to deal with an anticipated confinement which seemed inevitable yet unprecedented, and later, focusing on executing the Plan and realigning it as warranted to the ever-changing requirements. Actions were taken to institute the Work From Home mechanism and implementing Shipboard Outbreak Management Plan and the situation on board all owned and manned vessels was closely monitored by the Fleet and Operations Divisions. The challenges were formidable but an evolving Plan held us in good stead and they were overcome. And it makes us proud to convey that your Company continued to ensure transportation of essential supplies and uninterrupted trade flow requirements despite the constraints.

Impact of the Pandemic

The shipping industry had already been contending with the global slowdown and trade wars during the year and an expectation of a recovery of world economy seems remote now due to the pandemic which has caused enormous disruption impacting all sectors and walks of life, the effects of which would keep transcending across business operations and segments in various ways and at different points in time which cannot be predicted with any degree of certainty.

Maritime sector has been affected severely and the most significant impact has been felt with respect to the crew change, which the International Maritime Organisation (IMO) at the global level and the DG Shipping on the national front, continue to regulate and facilitate with issuance of various SOPs and orders for controlled crew change to bring in as much expediency as is feasible considering the dynamics of the pandemic. The increased cost of such crew changes has not deterred the company in putting the seafarers first and ensuring their welfare. Crew changes have been addressed with ‘Safety First’ and ensuring a qualitative crew change with due care, compassion, ensuring that the seafarer reached his home healthy and safe. Due care was also taken to ensure that the on signing crew was infection free so that fleet operations were not disrupted. Your Company has adhered to strict preventive measures and till the time of my writing this message, your entire owned fleet remains COVID free.

As the lockdown progressed, innumerable challenges kept surfacing which were met with due adroitness, empathy and expertise which were the outcome of sheer diligence and tenacity that your Company’s employees exhibited. Health concerns of the employees, shore and afloat, were accorded priority and while hygiene kept getting upgraded on one hand, advisories were issued from time to time, on the other, for their safety in line with the guidelines issued by the Ministry of Home Affairs and the DG Shipping for the shore and fleet, respectively, including the installation of Aarogya Setu App on the mobiles and online status declaration forms for the employees who attended office during exigencies during lockdown and when the Unlock Phase commenced. Measures continue to be taken and interactions between the Management and the employees continue to share mutual concerns and promote a positive environment and enthusiasm during these challenging times.

Operations

Shipping markets in 2019-2020

Shipping plays a vital role in facilitating global trade, with about 85% of all trade moved by sea. In Calendar year 2019 seaborne trade levels grew by 1% to reach 11.9 bn tonnes, almost double that at the turn of the millennium. In addition to this long- term growth trend in volume, there has been a broadening of the cargo base and increasing complexities. Besides the traditional influence of the global business cycle and commodity prices, other factors are increasingly impacting trade and freight: the US-China trade war, the impact of sanctions, the growth of US energy exports and fleet supply interruption. In shipping markets that have reduced surplus capacity in recent years, these trade complexities also have a greater influence on freight rate volatility.

Dry Cargo market remained lacklustre during 2019-20. In the beginning of financial year, BDI as on 1st April 2019 was at 685 points and on 31st March 2020 closed at 626 points. During the year earnings for Panamax and Supramax Bulkers remained subdued. Higher operating costs, weaker import demand in China and a supply side influx adversely affected the dry cargo market.

In the crude tanker segment, Q1 of 2019-20 witnessed fleet growth acceleration, with plenty of tanker deliveries seen. Inevitably, spot earnings fell, averaging close to operating expenses on most routes. The tide gradually started to turn in Q2 of 2019-20, whilst tanker earnings jumped, most notably in the VLCC and Aframax segments amid a perfect storm of improving fundamentals, geopolitical events and the IMO related disruptions. Crude tanker demand undoubtedly benefited from the ongoing robust growth in US crude exports throughout the year (and gains in Norway/Brazil production towards the end of 2019), with increases in non-OPEC supply eventually more than offsetting OPEC+ production cuts.

In Container industry growth in fleet capacity continued to exert downward pressure on rates for most major trade routes, including the busy westbound Asia–Europe lane.

Most of the demand for offshore support vessels (OSV) can be attributed to the rising deepwater development activities, driven by the declining production from the mature fields and increasing crude oil demand. The demand for offshore supply vessels on the Indian coast remained flat through out the year with shades of improvement during some months.

Market Outlook

Even as China, the biggest driver for the dry bulk industry recovers, the impact on shipping demand for dry bulk industry remains to be seen. Some of the stimulus measures that have been, or are expected to be, announced concentrate on infrastructure and housing investment, which will boost demand for raw materials. But other industries that provide demand for dry bulk – such as steel and aluminium for the automotive industry – have all but collapsed.

It is expected trading in all commodities to fall, including the grains trade. Lower commodity demand comes as a direct result of the lockdowns, as well as from the ensuing economic slowdown. The International Energy Agency (IEA) expects demand for coal will fall by 8% in 2020, with lower demand coming from lower electricity consumption because of lockdowns and reduced manufacturing activity.

Given the overcapacity – which was already plaguing the market after years of supply growth outstripping demand, the outlook may yet deteriorate further if lockdown. Measures last longer than expected, or have to be reinstated to avoid a new wave of infections, but there is little prospect of an improvement. Even with large government investments in infrastructure, the global recession will doubtless lead to lower demand and low freight rates.

Under normal circumstances, freight rates in the crude tanker market move in tandem with oil demand. Weak oil demand normally leads to lower refinery runs and weak crude oil trade, which in turn translates into lower freight rates. A record 30% decline in global oil demand in April 2020 also forced refiners to cut production, which in turn put the brakes on global crude oil trade. Despite a historic decline in oil prices because of COVID-19, major oil producers kept pumping oil at full throttle especially when Saudi Arabia and Russia started the price war. The consequent oil glut to the tune of 30 mbpd threatened to overwhelm global onshore storage capacity and led to a steep contango in oil prices, which in turn resulted in a sudden rise in floating storage of oil thereby pushing tanker freight rates northwards.

About 11% of the crude tanker fleet (82 VLCCs, 70 Suemaxes and 80 Aframaxs) was locked in floating storage at the end of April 2020, squeezing tonnage supply in the market. In addition, the pandemic-related increase in port delays and slow steaming by tankers due to weak demand further suffocated vessel supply in the market, underpinning freight rates.

With easing of COVID-19- enforced lockdowns, the oil demand is expected to recover gradually and the oil stored on vessels will be the first to come out of storage. This shall result in the incremental vessels currently locked in floating storage to return to trade by the end of the year, which in conjunction with the expansion in fleet will inflate vessel supply in the market and impact the freight rates. The expected increase in oil demand on the other hand will not fully translate into higher trade in the near term as, in addition to oil stored on vessels, refiners will use onshore stocks which in turn will cap crude oil trade.

In Container shipping, no sudden bounce back in demand is expected. Sales of containerised consumer goods have been some of the hardest-hit by lockdown measures, and lower consumer spending power is likely to persist for a prolonged period.

In the offshore segment, near term outlook looks grim. Due to recent fall in crude oil prices, the activities of the E&P players have been affected and majority of E&P companies are going slow with their projects.

Financials

It gives me immense pleasure and satisfaction to inform you that SCI has reported a standalone net profit of Rs. 302.35 crores excluding Other Comprehensive Income (OCI) against a net loss of Rs. 121.99 crores in the previous year (consolidated net profit of Rs. 336.48 crores excluding OCI as against a net loss of Rs. 62.66 crores in the previous year). Your Company being a diversified company has been able to absorb the losses of both the bulk and container segments which have been offset by the profits of both the Tanker and the Offshore fleet. The Operating Revenue clocked this year was the highest achieved over the last decade; it increased from Rs. 3872.85 Crore in FY 2018-19 to Rs. 4425.44 Crore in FY 2019-20. Your Company has broken records on several fronts a couple of them almost over a decade, and we are genuinely happy to be announcing this.

It is indeed a matter of great pride for the Company that while we worked on improving the overall financial health of the company, the Company yet again created new milestones. Your Company achieved the distinction of being the first CPSE among the Navratna/ Maharatna companies to have adopted and declared the financial results in the pandemic while also being well ahead of most private companies in doing so. It might well be appreciated that the restrictions imposed due to the lockdown from 24/3 created various challenges which were addressed with a sense of purposefulness and agility. All operations, ashore and afloat, continued unhindered, the financial statements too were prepared well in time despite the constraining conditions of lockdown and were remotely audited by the Joint Statutory Auditors. The results were adopted by the SCI Board in its meeting held on 29th May 2020 without availing of any extensions granted by the SEBI due to the pandemic. The statutory meetings were held via video conferencing with an almost full attendance of the Board members joining in from their respective locations. This is only to demonstrate the commitment of the SCI team to the company against all odds. The Company has also got a clean unqualified report from the joint statutory auditors as well as “NIL” Comments from the Comptroller and Auditor General of India on the financial statements for FY 2019-20.

Dividend

The Company in the times of the Pandemic has endeavored to bring cheer by returning to the dividend paying list after a long gap of eight years. The Board of Directors very responsibly giving due consideration to sustainability on all accounts have recommended a dividend of Rs.0.75/- per equity share of face value of Rs.10/- each subject to your approval at the Annual General Meeting. The Board of Directors remains grateful to all the stakeholders for the unstinted support faith and patience that you had reposed in us during the global downturn faced by the shipping industry from 2008 onwards and which continued with occasional spurts that did not sustain long enough. We are also well seized that we have an increased responsibility of maintaining and sustaining, if not surpassing the previous performance and growth despite the adversities which today has taken the form of the unprecedented pandemic and its unpredictable impact for future as they unfold. Challenging times lie ahead for all of us and we are committed to strike the right balance and brace ourselves appropriately with the same conviction, commitment, perseverance and resilience that we have displayed in the past.

As the Nation's largest Shipping Line and proud National Flag Carrier, The Shipping Corporation of India Ltd. carries the Nation's hopes, dreams and aspirations of Atmanirbhar Bharat as it sails across vast seas and far flung continents to reinvigorate and reaffirm the Nation's emergence as a major Global Power.
