Letter to Shareholders

Dear Shareowner

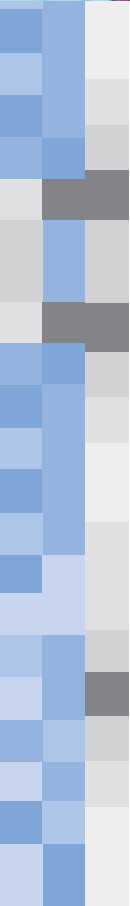

We continued our strong run into 2007. Sales growth at 17% over 2006 is less than the average growth levels that we have maintained over the last few years and has been impacted by the slowdown in the Automotive Sector. However our business portfolio is perfectly balanced between the Industrial and Automotive sectors and this ensured that we kept our growth momentum, both on our top line as well as significantly higher profitability levels. Our focus is on shareholder value and growth with profitability.

On most counts 2007 was a very challenging year. Higher interest rates and a concerted effort by the Government to curb inflation (thus draining out liquidity), resulted in a dramatic slowdown in the Automotive sector, especially the two wheeler segment which had seen strong double digit growth over the last many years. Our strategy to focus on exports has paid off, with exports almost doubling from 2006 levels and helping us to offset the slowdown in the automotive sector. At the same time, our industrial businesses which primarily address the process industries and mining/construction areas grew strongly. Our net profit at 1607 MINR is 57.6% higher than 2006 and reflects our focus on cost control, value creation and our five technology platform approach.

During the year, SKF India was awarded CNBC Asia's 'India Business Leader Award' for Talent Management. We are obviously very pleased to receive this award, and the credit for this goes to all our employees who, through their dedication and hard work made this possible. In a dynamic environment like India where talent is getting increasingly scarce, recognition of this nature is a huge motivator to us to continue to build a company based upon the best human practices.

Rakesh Makhija
Managing Director

As we prepare for the next stage of our growth, it is obvious to us that we need to keep investing in great people and building a strong institution in India. Institutions are built around an agenda of national development, where our focus and direction is aligned to serving our customers and helping to build India into a world class nation. We set up the Application Development Center in Bangalore in 2005 with the objective of developing new products locally. Today it has become an integral part of our growth story with a pipeline of new products being developed in ADC. This center will get expanded in the future to include sophisticated testing and validation facilities. We were recently conferred the 'Best Supplier Award for Technology Partnership' by Kirloskar Pneumatic, and this award aptly reflects our business philosophy - Partner with Customers, use our Technology to help drive Quality and Efficiency, and offer true Measurable Value. Our growth, today and in the future is completely centered on Solutions, Value and Partnership.

The Indian economy doubled in size over the last five years to become a trillion dollars in 2007. The economic projections for the next five years forecast the economy to double again to two trillion dollars by 2012, thereby adding a full trillion dollars in this period. This is clearly an aggressive view, but built around a mix of a heavy infrastructure spend, manufacturing and agricultural growth during this period. We clearly believe that is a likely case and our investments are planned around this development. We have committed to build a new factory in Haridwar, addressing the automotive industry that is coming up in Uttarakhand as well as many of our key customers setting up operations there. As part of SKF's global manufacturing footprint, the third Asian factory for Industrial Bearings will come up at Ahmedabad in Gujarat. This is expected to be ready by Q2 2009 and will cater to segments such as Wind Power, Steel, Cement, mining/construction etc. All the domestic sales activities for this factory will be through SKF India thereby ensuring quick and easy service to our customers. Over and above these Greenfield investments, we continue to upgrade our existing factories at Pune and Bangalore for higher throughput and better efficiencies.

We have dedicated our Hundredth year, in 2007 to Sustainability. In the words of the SKF Group CEO, Tom Johnstone, "Sustainability for the SKF Group is about combining our responsibility to run and develop our business successfully with our responsibility to safeguard resources for future generations". Within SKF India we have laid out a detailed program to reduce carbon dioxide emissions from our factories. In Pune we are running a program called 'Light the Future Club', with the aim of reducing carbon dioxide emissions by over 15% in the next 15 months. This is being done through a mix of Six Sigma projects as well as implementation of TPM in our factories. From a community care perspective, we continue to expand our Sports Academy in Pune which has now over 100 school children, both boys and girls, engaged in sports like cricket, football and hockey. It is very heartening for us to watch the progress made by these children on their respective sports, besides excelling, in the words of a parent, in their academic programs.

We have set aggressive targets for ourselves. We will work very hard to fulfill our customers ever increasing requirements and expectations, with Solutions, Value and Partnership.

Yours Sincerely

Rakesh Makhija
