3. OPERATING RESULTS AND PROSPECTS

The turnover and profitability in the year 1996-97 was lower due to severe price fluctuation and lower level of prices obtained in the said year. The overall profitability of the Company continues to be under strain because of a global recession prevailing the entire spectrum of the Industry. However in the year 1997-98, Company has improved its profitability due to part diversification into other Synthetic yarns and value added products.

The position is expected to be better in future as the unit is diversifying to increase production of nylon yarns. It is a market driven change of the product mix. It shall result in increase of production and higher value addition, since the product has better demand in the International Market. The Company is confident to achieve its projections in the coming years.

4. DIVIDEND

Your Directors do not recommend dividend for the year ended 31st March, 1998 on account of ploughing back the profit for proposed expansion.

5. DIRECTORS

Mr. Madhusudan S. Jhunjhunwala and Mr. Sanjay Karandikar, Directors of the Company retire by rotation at the ensuing Annual General Meeting and being eligible, offer themselves for re-appointment. The Directors recommend their re-appointment.
