3. MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

Overall Review

There is a perceptible increase in the profitability of the company during the year as compared to the previous year mainly due to improvement in the product mix & adding newer & higher value added items. The company has strengthened the marketing in the traditional markets & has explored newer markets simultaneously. The thrust of your company is still in the export markets where the quality perception of the company's products has dramatically changed resulting in large and sustained orders with high value realizations.

Industry Overview

World-wide, Asia plays the dominant role in production of yarn. China claims the edge over the other countries in production of yarn followed by India. Pertinent point to note is that substantial capacities from other Countries such as Korea and Taiwan have either closed down or shifted to other Countries such as China, India or Thailand. In nutshell China and India have now emerged as worlds dominating yarn producing Countries, while India is occupying the position of 4th largest producer of man-made fibre and 3rd largest producer of filament yarn in the world market.

Polyester filament yarn (PFY) is mainly used for manufacturing apparel (shirting, suiting, ladies' dress material) and knitwear; and non-apparel (upholstery, industrial fabrics and soft luggage). The major raw materials used for making PFY are PTA or DMT, and MEG.

The Polyamide (Nylon) yarn manufacturing and consumption in India is at a steady decline as it is more expensive than PFY. However for certain areas like hosiery, narrow fabrics, etc. where Polyester cannot replace the Polyamide due to certain product required properties inherent in Polyamide, the market for these yarns is still there. Besides the company has mainly catered for the export market where the Polyamide consumption is steady & has not drastically declined as compared to India

Markets

The traditional applications where Polyester & Polyamide Textured yarns are sold are primarily for weaving & circular knitting. These areas are mainly catered to by integrated units having their own partially oriented yarn (POY) manufacturing & maybe poly condensation facility along with Texturising machines.

SARLA POLYESTER LTD. is a diversified producer and processor of multi-filament Polyester and Nylon Textured Yarns and Elastic Yarns.

It's main business is texturising, twisting and covering of multifilament yarns and its manufacturing operations are located in Silvassa and Vapi.

SARLA markets its yarn to knitters and weavers who produce fabrics for apparel, hosiery, home furnishings, activewear, underwear and to manufacturers of sewing threads.

Opportunities & Threats

SARLA is working on a three major opportunities for growth :-

- Partnering with textile companies in the West in supply of SARLA yarns for their final textile product manufacturing.
- Production and processing of higher value yarns.
- Establishing production facilities overseas to take advantage of regional preferential free trade agreements.

Partnering with textile companies in the West. in supply of SARLA yarns for their final textile product manufacturing.

Outsourcing as a general business practice is on the rise and while this was always popular with large transnational corporations, today even small and medium sized companies in the developed world have embarked on this course partly facilitated by Trade Liberalization and recent developments in information technologies which have made communication costs more reasonable leading such companies in the Textile manufacturing business to consider outsourcing their production due to the substantial cost savings.

SARLA is actively pursuing such opportunities and has established such type of production agreements with two medium sized companies from USA and UK respectively who will purchase its yarn which was previously purchasing in its own countries and which is an intermediate raw material for its final manufactured textile product.

SARLA is also in discussion with many other such partners in Europe and USA and such collaborations offer great opportunity since it provides stable clients for SARLA'S yarn production as well as long term benefits in technology upgradation as well as opportunities to expand SARLA'S scope and diversity of business activities in association with such established companies in Europe and USA.

Production and processing of higher value yarns.

SARLA today is also the first Indian manufacturer of High Tenacity Polyamide 66 yarns.

The company's venture into production of High Tenacity Yarns is consistent with its desire to leverage core manufacturing expertise and enable it to diversify the yarn product range and end use markets and it provides the company with an immediate access to a broader mix of high value products.

Also, SARLA which upto now has a strong underlying business model in the commodity customized yarn market plans to add value to the supply chain with introduction of branded yarns and it is presently exploring these opportunities.

Establishing production facilities overseas to take advantage of regional preferential free trade agreements.

SARLA has recently established production facilities in Honduras for manufacture of Textured and Dyed Polyester and Nylon Yarns.

It is perhaps the first Indian company to invest in Honduras.

Honduras is a member of CAFTA [Central American Free Trade Agreement] and the other country members include EL SALVADOR, COSTA RICA, GUATEMALA, NICARAGUA AND DOMINICAN REPUBLIC.

The US – CAFTA allows duty free access to textile products manufactured in these countries who belong to the CAFTA Union.

As a result, exports of textile products from CAFTA to USA have increased dramatically and are reported to be $ 9.16 billion in 2005.

Honduras was the biggest CAFTA textile shipper to USA with textile exports of $ 2.62 billion in 2005.

SARLA expects captive consumers for its yarns in the garment exporting industries of Honduras and the other nearby CAFTA textile manufacturers.

Management of Financial Resources

Your company has been very conservative in its financial management as can be observed that for expansion purpose primarily internal resources have been used and the funds have been spent very judiciously in turn, improving the free cash flow and return on shareholder funds. As the textile industry is growing, we foresee tremendous potential, however, we shall continue to follow conservative approach in financial management.

Risk & Concern

Our major business in export market is contracted in US $. The current strengthening of the US $ against the Rupees will impact our realizations.

However as the company is importing 95% of its raw material the currency impact if any shall be offset.

Due to shortage and non availability of Raw Materials and sharp increase in Raw Material prices, it will have an impact on the bottom line of the company. However the company has good contacts with quality manufactures hence does not fore see any problem in availability, company is in the process of exploring new products & Markets.

Shareholder Value

The endeavour of the Company is to improve the shareholder value by increasing the amount of dividends and providing sufficient information reflecting transparency to all its stakeholders.
