ECONOMIC OUTLOOK:

According to the International Monetary Fund (IMF), the global economy is expected to grow at approximately 3.7% in 2017. USA is showing signs of strong fundamentals (low unemployment, consumer spending etc.), which continue to support recovery. Asia contributed on an average two-thirds to the global economic growth in the past few years and is expected to continue driving this growth in 2019. Japan is expected to remain steady while China is expected to witness a marginal slowdown in growth.

Risks to global growth in the form of deflation, slowdown in China, lower commodity prices and interest rate hike in USA continue to weigh heavily on the growth momentum and outlook.

GDP growth in Europe is expected to remain low as the strength of supportive factors (accommodative monetary policy, low energy prices and Euro depreciation) diminishes, amidst uncertainty relating to Britain’s referendum, migrant crisis and geo-political tensions. Europe continues to face multiple headwinds due to high debt levels, a fragile banking sector and increasing political impasse.

India is expected to continue its growth momentum in Financial Year 2018-19 on the back of robust manufacturing sector growth. Further, various measures such as ‘Make in India’, ‘Smart Cities’, ‘Digital India’ that the Government has been taking in the last couple of years are beginning to show results and the gradual implementation of structural reforms will continue to broaden and contribute towards higher growth.

INSIGHT OF DIAMOND INDUSTRY:

i) GLOBAL INSIGHT ON DIAOMAN AND JEWELLERY BUSINESS:

Strong growth in demand from US consumers was the main driver for global sales of diamond jewellery in 2018. Consumer demand for diamond jewellery in the US – still comfortably the world’s largest market – hit a new record of $40 billion in 2018. Chinese consumers also continued to increase their overall spend on diamond jewellery in 2016, both domestically and when purchasing overseas. The Japanese, Indian and Gulf consumer markets saw some declines in local currency terms, with the strength of the US dollar further impacting growth rates in US dollar terms.

At constant currency, global consumer demand for diamond jewellery grew by two per cent. However, the strength of the US dollar during the year negatively impacted growth at actual exchange rates, with global consumer demand for diamond jewellery in US dollar terms reaching US$80 billion in 2016 – with increase on the record US$79 billion seen in 2015 Globally, demand for diamond jewelry in 2016 increased marginally in US dollars (at actual exchange rates) to $80 billion, with demand growth from the US offsetting a contraction in India.

GLOBAL POLISHED DIAMOND DEMAND SHARE BY GEOGRAPHY (USD AT POLISHED WHOLESALE PRICES)

The analysis of the polished diamond content (the value of diamonds measured in Polished Wholesale Prices in US dollars) in diamond jewellery consumed around the world shows that both the US and Japanese markets gained share in 2016.

2015	USA 45%	CHINA 16%	GULF 8%	INDIA 7%	JAPAN 4%	Rest of World 20%
2016	USA 47%	CHINA 16%	GULF 7%	INDIA 6%	JAPAN 5%	Rest of World 19%

Among the top five consumer diamond markets in the world, the US is expected to continue to be the main driver of demand growth in 2017, sustained through moderately positive economic momentum and cautious consumer optimism.

ii) INDIAN INSIGHT DIAOMAN AND JEWELLERY BUSINESS:

Despite positive general macroeconomics in India, consumer demand for diamond jewellery dropped in 2016, as it was negatively affected by a number of factors, impacting overall consumer spending, including structural labour market issues and restricted consumer credit and Jeweller’s strike and demonetization led to a decline in demand in local currency, while weakness of the Rupee versus the US dollar led to a greater decline in US dollars.

The analysis of the polished diamond content (the value of diamonds measured in Polished Wholesale Prices in US dollars) in diamond jewellery consumed around the world shows that the US market, as the fastest growing in 2016, has gained share (from 45 per cent in 2015 to 47 per cent in 2016).

a) INTRODUCTION:

The Gems and Jewellery sector plays a significant role in the Indian economy, contributing around 6-7 per cent of the country’s GDP. One of the fastest growing sectors, it is extremely export oriented and labour intensive.

Based on its potential for growth and value addition, the Government of India has declared the Gems and Jewellery sector as a focus area for export promotion. The Government has recently undertaken various measures to promote investments and to upgrade technology and skills to promote ‘Brand India’ in the international market.

India is deemed to be the hub of the global jewellery market because of its low costs and availability of high-skilled labour. India is the world’s largest cutting and polishing centre for diamonds, with the cutting and polishing industry being well supported by government policies.

India's Gems and Jewellery sector has been contributing in a big way to the country's foreign exchange earnings (FEEs). The Government of India has viewed the sector as a thrust area for export promotion. The Indian government presently allows 100 per cent Foreign Direct Investment (FDI) in the sector through the automatic route.

b) MARKET SIZE:

The gems and jewellery market in India is home to more than 500,000 players, with the majority being small players.

India is one of the largest exporters of gems and jewellery and the industry is considered to play a vital role in the Indian economy as it contributes a major chunk to the total foreign reserves of the country. UAE, US, Russia, Singapore, Hong Kong, Latin America and China are the biggest importers of Indian jewellery.
