a. Industry Structure and Development

The Industry is turning the corner. Capacity, Production and Demand are slowly increasing. However, the outcome is to be observed keenly in future.

b. Opportunities and Threats

Opportunities are plenty, however judicious decisions are required to be taken by each Company as may be individually beneficial. As such there are no threats to the industry, however over capacity could be a potential threat in long run, as the demand may not rise continuously.

c. Segment - wise or Product - wise Performance

Segment wise or product wise analysis of performance is not applicable to your Company under Accounting Standard 17.

d. Outlook

The Steel Industry for the sixth consecutive year 2001-02 continued to pass through difficult conditions characterised by high raw material cost, sluggish demand, cut-throat competition, new capacity creation and growing imports at reduced tariffs. The year perhaps marked the bottoming of Steel Industry worldwide, which inevitably resulted in severe pressure on margins. Your Company was not an exception to these general phenomena and its performance too was adversely affected.

However, the Steel industry has probably touched its bottom and some positive improvements are seen in the industry benefiting the manufacturers. We, being the processors will continue to face the pressures of high cost of raw materials and low price of finished products for atleast 6 to 8 months period during the current financial year. Your Directors are optimistic that the Company will also be experiencing the improved performance during the later part of the current financial year. The future of the Steel Processing Industry will always remain good.

e. Risks and Concerns

Main risk to the Steel Industry and the Company is nothing but the market conditions. Additionally, risks related to inventories, foreign exchange, financial cost, insurance are being managed efficiently by the management.

f. Internal Control Systems and their adequacy

Your Company has established adequate internal control systems and is having regular internal audit mechanism to monitor the same under the overall control and supervision of the Internal Auditor and the Audit Committee of Directors. However, these systems are being improvised constantly.

g. Discussion on Financial Performance with respect to Operational Performance

The financial performance with respect to the operational performance during the year under review was satisfactory. However better financial performance could have been possible, if the price realisation of the products were better and the financial cost was low.

h. Material Development in Human Resources/Industrial Relations Front, including Number of People Employed

Your Company is constantly endeavoring to introduce Human Resources Development activities and induction of professional manpower. Presently, your Company is employing more than 550 employees in addition to the substantial numbers of contractual workmen. Your Company has excellent industrial relations.
